3200 BC Orkney Island off the coast of Northern Scotland was home to a small farming village called Skara Brae. For reasons unknown, after nearly six centuries of continuous habitation, the village was abandoned around 2600 BC and its stone structures covered over, perhaps deliberately, like the structures at Gobekli Tepe. Although now well excavated, very little is known about the peaceful people who lived at Skara Brae or their origins. Who were they and where did they go? Drawing on his in-depth knowledge of the connections between the cosmology and linguistics of Egyptian, Dogon, Chinese, and Vedic traditions, Laird Scranton reveals the striking similarities between Skara Brae and the Dogon of Mali, who still practice the same cosmology and traditions they once shared with pre-dynastic Egypt. He shows how the earliest Skara Brae houses match the typical Dogon stone house as well as Schwaller de Lubicz's interpretation of the Egyptian Temple of Man at Luxor. He explains how megalithic stone sites near Skara Brae conform to Dogon cosmology, each representing sequential stages of creation as described by Dogon priests, and he details how the houses at Skara Brae also represent a concept of creation. Citing a linguistic phenomenon known as ultraconserved words, the author compares words of the Faroese language at Skara Brae, a language with no known origin, with important cosmological words from Dogon and ancient Egyptian traditions, finding obvious connections and similarities. Scranton shows how the cultivated field alongside the village of Skara Brae corresponds to the heavenly field symbolism pervasive throughout many ancient cultures, such as the Field of Reeds of the ancient Egyptians and the Elysian Fields of ancient Greece. He demonstrates how Greek and Egyptian geographic descriptions of these fields are a consistent match with Orkney Island. Examining the similarities between Skara Brae and Gobekli Tepe, Scranton reveals that Skara Brae may have been a secondary center of initiation and civilizing knowledge, a long-lost Egyptian mystery school set up millennia after Gobekli Tepe was ritually buried, and given the timing of the site, is possibly the source of the first pharaohs and priests of ancient Egypt.

410 Unique Sutras: Mystical Keys to Vedic Astrology
Saket Shah, 2025-07-01. Dear Seeker of the Stars: These 410 Sutras are whispers from the silent spaces where planets, nakshatras, and karma meet. They were not gathered from any one book or master but woven like a secret garland from the timeless soil of ancient knowing and the gentle echoes of my own searching heart. Each line is a doorway, not to predict your life like a prisoner of fate, but to remind you that every chart is a mirror, every planet a teacher, every moment an opportunity to rewrite old codes. You may find some sutras soothing, others unsettling. Let them be. The truths that disturb us are often the ones we came here to remember. If a single verse cleanses a fear, untangles a knot, or lights a lamp in your hidden corridors, then these pages have done their secret work. Do not hold these secrets too tightly. Astrology is not a cage but a key, and the stars themselves are not masters but friends on your endless journey back to your own light. May these sutras travel far and wide yet may they remain hidden in the only place that truly matters: your awakened, unchained heart. With reverence for your path, Saket Shah, Keeper of the Silent Stars.
