Mezey, 2022-12-08 People with mental health conditions are among the most socially excluded groups in society Mental health conditions are influenced by the social environment which in turn shapes our social and cultural responses to the people who experience them Much of what mental health practitioners do is essentially social and the effects of their interventions are hampered by the marginalised status of many of the people that they see This book documents the ways in which people with mental health conditions are excluded from participating in society and offers some pointers as to how this may be reversed It highlights the need to reduce mental health inequalities and to consider the importance of material inequalities and social injustices faced by people experiencing mental ill health Whilst the challenges are considerable and the solutions wide ranging mental health practitioners can play a significant role in facilitating the social inclusion of those with mental health conditions Residential Satisfaction and Housing Policy Evolution Clinton Aigbavboa, Wellington

Thwala, 2018-07-04 This book explores residential satisfaction and housing policy trends in developing nations by using subsidised low income housing examples in South Africa Ghana and Nigeria as case studies While there has been much documentation on the formation of residential satisfaction and the evolution of housing policy in developed nations relatively little has been written about these topics in developing nations This book provides readers with two major practical insights The first is focused on the theoretical underpinning of residential satisfaction and the formation of residential satisfaction in subsidised low income housing through the development of a conceptual framework while the second is focused on housing policy evolution and its trends in South Africa In this section of the book comparative overviews of public housing in two West African countries are provided with an emphasis on the philosophical basis for its development in these countries The central aim of the book is to provide readers with ideas on residential satisfaction formation and housing policy trends in South Africa GBEN 2006 International Conference on Global Built Environment Global Built Environment
