Protecting Human Security in Africa Ademola Abass,2010-09-23 This text explores the gravest threats to human security in Africa Written by leading experts on its various themes it combines legal and policy perspectives on the issues making it an indispensable book for those seeking to learn more about the real challenges facing Africans and African organizations

Africa and U.S. National Interests Frances K. Scott,1997 Assault on Rural Poverty Haileleul Getahun,Hailemariam Getahun,2001 In Assault on Rural Poverty Haileleul Getahun analyzes the various causes of rural poverty and constraints impeding increased agricultural productivity during the last four decades in Ethiopia under three different regimes Getahun examines the feudalistic system under Emperor Haile Selassie the command economic system of the military junta led by Mengistu Haile Mariam and the current capitalist system of the Federal Republic of Ethiopia led by Meles Zenawi Getahun discusses the lessons drawn from Ethiopian experience during these three regimes as well as from other African and Asian countries These provide the basis for recommending a small farmer led agricultural and rural development strategy that if implemented would alleviate rural poverty in Ethiopia The author maintains that the keys for successful development are the provision of institutional savings and credit for small scale farmers and small business owners the deep involvement of the community in project planning implementation evaluation and sharing of the benefits and the use of development support communication for motivation information dissemination and training Getahun argues strongly that ethnic politics in Ethiopia are destructive to Ethiopian society and militates against sustainable development Rather the path to peace and sustainable development requires that ethnic politics be scrapped and replaced by a genuinely democratic and widely acceptable system of governance Africa Air University (U.S.). Library,1996 The Potentiality of 'developmental States' in Africa

Pamela Mbabazi,Ian Taylor,2005 The Potentiality of Developmental States in Africa investigates the potential role of the state in Africa in promoting development in this era of globalisation Using Botswana and Uganda as case studies the volume argues that it is not the amount of state involvement in the economy that matters but the quality This set of original studies compares and contrasts issues that distinguish the two countries development record and style of activity of the state in promoting development Written by a collection of researchers drawn mainly from Botswana and Uganda this book argues that there are some elements of the developmental state model in both countries These elements have arguably contributed to some of the relative successes in the two states Contextualising the case studies within the history and political economy of the respective countries the book is a valuable addition to the on going debate on the role nature and character of states in Africa A must read for students researchers politicians and development practitioners Book jacket Capacity Building in Developing Countries Valentine U. James,1998-05-26 The term capacity building refers to enabling the indigenous people of developing countries to carry out development processes successfully by empowering them through strengthened domestic institutions provision of domestic markets and improvement of local government efforts to sustain infrastructures social institutions and commercial institutions Capacity building also involves the need to recognize indigenous interest groups encourage local efforts provide incentives for privatization and coordinate local regional and international strategies to enhance productivity and wise use of natural and human resources Most important capacity building encourages a bottom up or grassroots effort for sustainable development The grassroots effort begins with the family unit Capacity building addresses all areas of social economic and health and environmental processes through a holistic approach The chapters of this book written by experts in their fields address these three areas of the developing societies Special Bibliography Series United States Air Force Academy. Library,1997 Special Bibliography Series ,1957 African Perspectives on Reshaping Rural Development Mafukata, Mavhungu Abel,Tshikolomo, Khathutshelo Alfred,2019-11-22 Development studies in developing regions such as Southern Africa rely heavily on materials developed by Europeans with a European context European dominance in development studies emanates from the fact that the discipline was first developed by Europeans Some argue that this has led to distortions in theory and practice of development in Southern Africa This book wishes to begin Africa s expedition to develop proper material to de Westernize while Africanizing the context of the scholarship of rural development African Perspectives on Reshaping Rural Development is an essential reference source that repositions the context of rural development studies from the Western centric knowledge system into an African context in order to solve African centered problems Featuring research on topics such as food security poverty reduction and community engagement this book is ideally designed for planners researchers practitioners policymakers government officials academicians and students seeking clarity on theory and practice of development in Africa Ill-Gotten Money and the Economy Stuart Yikona,Brigitte Slot,Michael Geller,Bjarne Hansen,Fatima el Kadiri,2011-10-11 Many developing countries have introduced policies to tackle ill gotten money over the past years Perception remains that such moves were more a result of international pressure being exercised than genuine ownership of such an agenda There is not enough analysis and literature of how an anti financial crime framework does or does not contribute to the development path of developing countries or how best to use these tools in a developing country environment This study was aimed at initially exploring the effects of ill gotten money or proceeds of crime and anti money laundering policies on economic development The study focused on two developing countries Malawi a low income country and Namibia an upper middle income country The starting point of this analysis is that anti money laundering is essentially a tool to address criminal activities and that as a result understanding criminal activities and how proceeds of crime impact development The purpose of this study was i to provide an initial answer to the question if and how measures to address proceeds of crime contributes to economic development and ii to develop a framework that enable governments in developing countries to analyze the main sources of ill gotten money and its effects on the economy

Structural Adjustment and Macroeconomic Reform in Ethiopia Rahel Kassahun,2002 In October 1992 the government of Ethiopia backed by the IMF and the World Bank implemented a structural adjustment and macroeconomic policy reform program The objective of the program is to revitalize the economy by creating a market oriented system The dissertation investigates whether or not the reform measures implemented have helped improve the economic and social environment At the aggregate level I examine to what extent the reform measures have been successful in meeting the six core objectives of structural adjustment programmes i e raising the rates of saving securing macroeconomic stability liberalizing trade reducing government intervention and the promotion of the private sector the reorientation of government spending and restructuring of revenues and mobilizing external resources At the household level I am interested in assessing the welfare of Ethiopians by examining changes in real per capita expenditure income and nutritional intake The study also investigates whether or not reform has made it easier or more difficult to expand services in health care and education The main conclusion of the dissertation is that adjustment is working in Ethiopia and its continued success critically depends on genuine and effective cooperation between the government and the donor community This study is informed by data gathered by various government ministries and institutions including the Ministry of Economic Development and Cooperation Ministry of Labour and Social Affairs National Bank of Ethiopia Ministry of Education Ethiopian Investment Authority and Central Statistical Authority The main sources of data for assessing the performance of the social sector are the Household Income Consumption and Expenditure Surveys conducted in 1995 96 and in 1999 2000 the Welfare Monitoring Survey WMS conducted in 1998 and the 1999 National Labor Force Survey All surveys were conducted by the Central Statistical Authority
