Conversations with Sterling Plumpp John Zheng, 2016-06-28

Conversations with Sterling Plumpp is the first collection of interviews with the renowned poet of Home Bass and other much admired works Spanning thirty years and drawn from literary and scholarly journals and other media these interviews offer insights into his poetic innovation of blues and jazz and his mastery of black vernacular in poetry This collection seems fundamental to an understanding of the life and work of an African American poet who has been innovative in fusing blues and jazz rhythms with poetic insight and in vivifying the vernacular landscape of African American poetry Born in 1940 in Clinton Mississippi Plumpp has been living in Chicago since 1962 Home Bass received the 2014 American Book Award The finest blues poet of his generation Plumpp became a model for contemporary poetry and poetics and a leading figure in the tradition of blues jazz poetry He continues to reinvent the language while exploring the registers of individual and communal memory and of local national and global history His poetry is important in attempts to define the black aesthetic from the era of the Harlem Renaissance to the seminal Black Arts Movement It is also important for its re articulation of the Great Migration especially expressed by blues musicians who left Mississippi for Chicago The Lever of Riches Joel

Mokyr, 1992-04-09 In a world of supercomputers genetic engineering and fiber optics technological creativity is ever more the key to economic success But why are some nations more creative than others and why do some highly innovative societies such as ancient China or Britain in the industrial revolution pass into stagnation Beginning with a fascinating concise history of technological progress Mokyr sets the background for his analysis by tracing the major inventions and innovations that have transformed society since ancient Greece and Rome What emerges from this survey is often surprising the classical world for instance was largely barren of new technology the relatively backward society of medieval Europe bristled with inventions and the period between the Reformation and the Industrial Revolution was one of slow and unspectacular progress in technology despite the tumultuous developments associated with the Voyages of Discovery and the Scientific Revolution What were the causes of technological creativity Mokyr distinguishes between the relationship of inventors and their physical environment which determined their willingness to challenge nature and the social environment which determined the openness to new ideas He discusses a long list of such factors showing how they interact to help or hinder a nation s creativity and then illustrates them by a number of detailed comparative studies examining the differences between Europe and China between classical antiquity and medieval Europe and between Britain and the rest of Europe during the industrial revolution He examines such aspects as the role of the state the Chinese gave up a millennium wide lead in shipping to the Europeans for example when an Emperor banned large ocean going vessels the impact of science as well as religion politics and even nutrition He questions the importance of such commonly cited factors as the spill over benefits of war the abundance of natural resources life expectancy and labor costs Today an ever greater number of industrial economies are competing in the global market locked in a struggle that revolves around technological ingenuity The Lever of Riches with its keen analysis derived from a sweeping survey of creativity throughout history offers telling insights into the question of how Western economies can maintain and developing nations can unlock their creative potential

Zolynas, 1992-10-01 In this groundbreaking volume Fred Moramarco and Al Zolynas bring together a comprehensive and widely representative selection of poetry reflecting both the diversity and commodity of male experience in the United States today Since the beginning of the contemporary phase of the women's movement in the 1960s various anthologies devoted to the poetry of women have articulated and defined a distinctive sensibility attuned to the particularities of a woman's life in our time Although much has been written recently about the male role in our society as well the discussion generally has assumed a sociopsychological or mythic perspective Poetry Moramarco and Zolynas believe can reveal most about the nature of male life today especially the enormous changes men have experienced in recent years As the editors state in their introduction A quiet revolution has been taking place in men's poetry over the past few decades as men have been chronicling the history of their hearts and have been examining those relationships central to their being in the world their connections to their fathers and mothers their own sense of fatherhood and of being sons and brothers their marriages divorces and other aspects of their love lives as well as the ways they conceive of maleness and femaleness The poems collected in Men of Our Time 257 from more than 170 poets include a wide mix of ethnic and racial perspectives that reflect the multicultural tenor of American life They reveal men s most intimate feelings about the loss of childhood sexual anxieties and fantasies aging self sufficiency and dependency and the perennial quest for a masculine identity Above all the poems are unapologetically grounded in a distinctly male experience or imagination Men of Our Time reclaims a poetry that is connected to and expressive of men s lives in the closing decade of the twentieth century The Greenwood

Black Life in Mississippi Julius Eric

Thompson, 2001 Black Life in Mississippi is a collection of essays which explore the underexposed life and culture of black Mississippians between the 1860s and the 1980s. Afrocentric Traditions James L. Conyers, Jr., 2011-12-31 Ever since the first contacts between Europe and Africa African people have operated from the fringes of Eurocentric experience in the Western mind. Much of what we have studied in African history and culture or literature and linguistics or politics and economics has been orchestrated from the standpoint of Europe's interests. Whether it is a matter of economics, history, politics, geographical concepts or art, Africans have been seen as peripheral. This volume reviews the past in order to evaluate the present and move ahead with appropriate policies for the future. The articles in this volume, the first in a new serial publication in African studies, cover a broad range of subject matter and methodology. Topics range from the W. E. B. DuBois/Booker T. Washington schism that led to the formation of the Niagara movement to the popular dissemination of black hip hop culture. It opens with a description of Afrocentricity by Molefi K. Asante. Kobi K. Kambon and Reginald Rackley discuss the construct that produces European cultural misidentification among Africans. Nell Irvin Painter, in discussing the Shoah and Southern history, parallels the rhetoric of hate that permeated the late nineteenth and early twentieth century German diatribes against Jews with that of the Southern white supremacists against blacks. Anthony B. Pinn notes similarities that tie together slavery and colonialism in a bond of existential and ontological destruction. Anthony J. Lemelle Jr. examines critical issues about black masculinity. James B. Stewart elaborates on the development of African studies. Julius E. Thompson explores the historical importance of the African American writer in Mississippi history. Cary DeCordova Wintz, the basis of the conflict between W. E. B. DuBois and Booker T. Washington in an effort to expose its underlying causes. James L. Conyers Jr. summarizes social and cultural movements in particular the popular black hip hop culture. Rounding out the presentations, Lea Redmond and Charles P. Henry trace the roots of black studies in the United States. Afrocentric Traditions will have particular interest for scholars in the fields of American studies, cultural studies, historians, sociologists, and specialists in African American studies. James L. Conyers Jr. is a University Professor of African American Studies and director of the African American studies program, University of Houston.
