A poignantly told story of ruminative remembrance. Kirkus Reviews: I was captured from the first sentence. superbly written. Midwest Book Review: A sensitive, clear-eyed, unsentimental story. Michelle Hoover, author of Bottomland: In 2004, when middle-aged Walker Maguire is called to the deathbed of his estranged father, his thoughts return to 1974. He'd worked that summer at the auto factory where his dad, an unhappily retired Air Force colonel, was employed as plant physician. Witness to a bloody fight falsely blamed on a Mexican immigrant, Walker kept quiet, fearing his white co-workers and tyrannical father. Lies snowball into betrayals, leading to a life-long rift between father and son that can only be mended by the past coming back to life and revealing its long-held secrets. You Can See More From Up Here is a coming-of-age tale about the illusion of privilege and the power of the past to inform and possibly heal the present. More Than the Eye Can See Betty Raymond Gubler, 2020-10-26 At the end of her junior year of college, Miranda, a music major, meets David, an accomplished artist, at a wedding reception. The Social Paradox William von Hippel,2025-02-18 A Next Big Idea Club Must Read of February 2025 From the author of The Social Leap comes this thought provoking exploration into humans two core evolutionary needs for connection and autonomy how the modern world has thrown them out of whack and how we can rebalance them to improve our lives Why do people who have so much leading comfortable lives filled with unprecedented freedom choice and abundance often feel so unhappy and unfulfilled This phenomenon is a defining paradox of our time and one we endlessly seek to solve In The Social Paradox psychologist William von Hippel argues that we need to think about this problem in a new way By changing our perspective we might finally see the solution bringing us greater happiness and more satisfying relationships The key is to understand the interplay between our two most basic psychological needs for connection and autonomy Evolution made us dependent on one another for survival instilling in us a strong need to connect It also made us seek autonomy so our ancestors could distinguish themselves within their groups improving their chances to procreate and gain status These two opposing needs are our most fundamental psychological drivers and while our lives once ensured a happy balance between them the opportunities of today s world have thrown it out of whack As von Hippel explains our modern world no longer demands connection but it provides endless opportunity for autonomy this lopsidedness lies at the root of many of our most intractable problems Recognizing this imbalance and working to counter it can drastically change how we make decisions spend our time and find happiness The Social Paradox invites us to examine the fundamental building blocks of life and society politics religion urban living marriage in a brand new way Once we understand the evolutionary forces driving us we can begin to see how to counteract the emptiness and loneliness of contemporary life
