The Musical Arts Of Ancient China:

The Musical Arts of Ancient China Xiao Mei, 2001 The Musical Arts of Ancient China Mei Xiao, Bell Yung, Anita Wong, 2001 The musical arts of ancient China Junying Fan, Chen Lin, Chinese Musicians' Association, Zhongguo Yishu Yanjiuyuan Yinyue Yanjiusuo, University of Hong Kong. University Museum and Art Gallery, 2003 Katalog wystawy Musical Arts of Ancient China w University Museum and Art Gallery Hong Kong 27 września 2001 8 stycznia 2002 r The Musical Art of Ancient China John Hazedel Levis, 1935* The Art of Ancient Music David Walter Leinweber, 2020-10-28 From the very beginning music has helped us create our world everything from language to technology to philosophy and religion The Art of Ancient Music discusses the important role music has played in shaping human development While emphasizing shared human themes the text has a special focus on the rise of Western music in the ancient Near East the Bible and the Classical worlds A final chapter provides a discussion of the way music helped bridge the gap between the ancient world and the Middle Ages especially in the guise of Church music A Cultural History of the Chinese Language Sharron Gu, 2011-12-22 Chinese one of the oldest active languages evolved over 5 000 years As such it makes for a fascinating case study in the development of language This cultural history of Chinese demonstrates that the language grew and responded to its music and visual expression in a manner very similar to contemporary English and other Western languages Within Chinese cultural history lie the answers to numerous questions that have haunted scholars for decades How does language relate to worldview What would happen to law after its language loses absolute binding power How do music visual and theatrical images influence literature By presenting Chinese not as a system of signs but as the history of a community this study shows how language has expanded the scope of Chinese imagination and offers a glimpse into the future of younger languages throughout the world The Oxford Handbook of Asian Philosophies in Music Education C. Victor Fung, Leonard Tan, 2024-07-30 This volume focuses on the collective wisdom of Asian philosophies and their implications for music education All twenty chapters are written by highly regarded philosophers and music educators steeped in various Asian traditions These chapters will include an explanation of a prominent philosophical tradition evidence in a contemporary music teaching and learning settings including its inception and historical development along with an explanation of how the philosophical tradition works in contemporary music education and suggestions for potential directions in the near and distant future The book is organized into five sections Section I is based on Chinese philosophical traditions which have the longest history and are some of the most influential across Asia and beyond Chapters in Section II present a snapshot of Japanese and Korean views beginning with the musical practices in the Joseon Period 1392 1910 that are still being practiced in South Korea today to Western influences in 19th century Japan A collection of philosophical traditions from South and Southeast Asia are contained in Section III ranging from the insights of King Bhumibol Adulyadej King Rama IX of Thailand an accomplished jazz musician to the Balinese notion of taksu a form of supreme energy and divine power crucial for compelling performances in the performing arts We venture into the Islamic and the Middle Eastern world in Section IV where the dance practices of the Hadhrami Arabs in the Malay Archipelago to traditional sharah music are contextualized within Islamic philosophy This section also describes the philosophical ideas of the 12th century Persian philosopher and founder of the Illuminationist Ishraq philosophy Shihab al Din al Suhrawardi arguing that his ideas have much to recommend music education as this approach requires students to listen in deeper ways absorb more abundantly and move beyond arts education to encompass the education of the whole person Section V concludes with a metaphorical view on a New Silk Road in music education in the 21st century where ideas are traded for mutual benefit and the development multicultural philosophies of music education While there are numerous publications on the philosophy of music education rooted in the Western philosophical traditions of ancient Greece the Asian philosophical voice is virtually silent outside of Asia and this volume aims to begin the long process of redressing this imbalance This volume will open readers to the richness of Asian philosophical sources and hopefully stimulate dialogues that could generate new insights and directions for further development cross pollination and application of some of the world s earliest philosophical traditions Musical Bows and Zithers along the Great Silk Road Xiao Mei,Gisa Jähnichen,2023-10-04 The musical bow is usually considered one of the earliest instruments in the history of instrumental development yet the validity of this view has not been proven In all likelihood it was one among many other early instruments created to produce sound The same can be said in general for all the simple chordophones called zithers of which the musical bow is one type The papers collected in this volume have been initially presented at the International Council for Traditional Music Colloquium ICTM held in Shanghai in December 2022 They try to challenge some previous depictions of instrumental development and one sided explanations of musical histories They specifically focus on exploring the interrelationship between instrumental development and the availability of natural resources in particular geographical regions While the papers at the colloquium focused on sound production they also explored the role of ethnomusicology as a discipline in guiding local decision making and interregional research co operation testimonies from people who actually worked in these occupations or interacted with those in that field Volume of Proceedings Music Teachers National Association, 1917 Culture, Creativity, and Music Education in China Wai-Chung Ho, 2023-04-07 Ho's book explores music education in China and how creativity education reforms and social transformation can be enabled through music. The essential elements of music discussed include perception and creativity sources and stimulation and the integration of musical creativity in diverse cultures and participation. It focuses on three Chinese cities: Changsha and Hong Kong Special Administrative Region of China which have creative industries and Shijiazhuang which has cultural industries. Readers will gain insights into the introduction of creativity into the Chinese education system through music particularly during the pandemic. The author analyses official documents, selected music textbooks adopted by schools, questionnaire surveys and in-depth interviews with both students and teachers. These interviews reveal the underbelly of the dilemmas of introducing creativity into schools through music education. The volume will be of interest to those keen to increase creativity in teaching through music and researchers in the fields of creativity and music education. It will also interest students undertaking Chinese teacher education or music. The China Journal of Science & Arts , 1924
