The Muslims And Family Planning:

The Muslims & Family Planning S. Shabbir, 1991 Study based on Vidarbha India a region in Maharashtra Family Planning Tahir Mahmood, 1977 Muslim Attitude Towards Family Planning Shakeel Ahmad, 2003 It is over 150 years since Malthus sounded his warning about an inevitable population explosion given the hitherto present trends he was met with skepticism at best and ridicule at the worst. The general demographic condition of the world now and India in particular has vindicated Malthus. The population explosion has frustrated government efforts to eradicate poverty and has reduced a great number of people to indigence. The five year plans of the government of India have come to nothing. Given the above scenario the author decided to do a small study of 300 Muslim women's attitudes towards family planning. The book is structured thus: Chapter 1 defines the population problems and its consequences; Chapter 2 points out the aim and objectives of an ameliorating programme; Chapter 3 looks at personal characteristics i.e. age, education, birthplace, occupation and marital status of the research subjects; Chapters 5, 6, 7 deal with the influence of these characteristics on family planning; finally Chapter 8 presents the author's findings and suggestions. Islam and Family Planning Zainah Anwar, 2003 Muslim Attitudes Toward Family Planning Olivia Schieffelin, 1967 Family Planning in the Legacy of Islam Abdel-Rahim Omran, 2012-09-10 How has the Islamic view of marriage, family formation and child rearing developed and adapted over the centuries? Is contraception just permitted or actively encouraged? The family is the basic social unit of Islamic society. Even without compelling population pressures there has been concern with spacing and family planning. This book is the result of a massive research project gathering fourteen centuries, the seventh to the twentieth, of views on family formation and planning as expressed by leading Islamic theologians and jurists. The work has been discussed and shaped at each stage by a committee of Islamic experts representing the majority of the Muslim countries. The book provides a much needed source of reference and will be of equal value and interest to professionals in health care and development work and to those working in the academic disciplines of Middle East studies, religion and population studies. ISLAMIC PRINCIPLES ON FAMILY PLANNING Mufti Allie Haroun Sheikh, 2005 The Population Myth S.Y. Quraishi, 2021-02-15 The Population Myth reveals how the right wing spin to population data has given rise to myths about the Muslim rate of growth often used to stoke majoritarian fears of a demographic skew. The author S.Y. Quraishi uses facts to demolish these and demonstrates how a planned population is in the interest of all communities. The book delves into the Quran and the Hadith to show how Islam might have been one of the first religions in the world to actually advocate smaller families, which is why several Islamic nations today have population policies in place. This busts the other myth that Muslims shun family planning on religious grounds. Based on impeccable research, this is an important book from a credible voice about the politicization of demographics in India today. Family Planning Among Muslims in India M. E. Khan, 1979 Empirical study on Muslims of Kanpur City The Muslim Ummah and Family Planning

Movement in Indonesia ,1993 Role of Islamic societies in supporting family planning programs in Indonesia Manual on Islam and Family Planning ,1991 Islam & Family Planning: Family planning and social change in Muslim culture ,1974 The Origins and Evolution of Family Planning Programs in Developing Countries Judith R. Seltzer,2002-04-22 This book analyzes the origins and rationale of family planning programs and how they have evolved based on experience in different country settings Family Planning in Islam Dr.M.Sharif Chaudhry,2006 Family Planning and Sustainable Development in Bangladesh M. Rezaul Islam,2024-04-15 Exploring tailored family planning strategies for marginalized groups this work delves into comparative insights from Asian contexts providing actionable approaches to empower and transform communities foster sustainable development and improve reproductive health outcomes Islam and the Securitisation of Population Policies Katrina Riddell,2016-05-06 There has been much scholarly debate on the politically disruptive capabilities of Islam and the threats to global security posed by or to Muslim states and societies but within this dialogue there has been little recognition of the role of population policies in security issues Katrina Riddell s study focuses specifically on Islam and the securitization of population policies and sustainability Opening with a discussion of contemporary population discourses and their historical foundations the book examines how population growth has become an international security issue The author takes the examples of Pakistan and Iran to provide a nuanced understanding of Muslim states interaction with global debates on sustainability She also explores how Muslim and non Muslim states societies and agents perceive issues of population growth and control Providing an innovative approach to the pursuit of global sustainability and security this book presents useful material to scholars whose research focuses on Islam and the future Understanding Urban Health Disparities: Family Planning Access and Use Among the Urban Poor in Low-and Middle-Income Countries Moses Tetui,James Duminy,Onikepe Oluwadamilola Owolabi,Moazzam Ali,2022-07-26

Family in the Middle East Kathryn M. Yount,Hoda Rashad,2008-07-16 This book examines in comparative perspective the different ideals about family and society and how they have impacted on real family life across a number of countries in the Middle East Social Institutions and International Human Rights Law Implementation Julie Fraser,2020-08-06 Having articulated numerous human rights norms and standards in international treaties the pressing challenge today is their realisation in States parties around the world Domestic implementation has proven a difficult task for national authorities as well as international supervisory bodies This book examines the traditional State centric and legalistic approach to implementation critiquing its limited efficacy in practice and failure to connect with local cultures The book therefore explores the permissibility of other measures of implementation and advocates more culturally sensitive approaches involving social institutions Through an interdisciplinary case study of Islam in Indonesia the book demonstrates the power of social institutions like religion to promote rights compliant positions and behaviours Like the preamble of the 1948 Universal Declaration of Human Rights the book reiterates the role not just of the State but indeed every organ of society in realising
