Clark, Abby McGehee, 2016-12-05 This collection of essays presents the exciting and innovative work being done in the field of medieval architectural history by scholars affiliated with AVISTA one of the most active sponsors of such research in the Anglo American scholarly community These studies constitute a snapshot of the range of new interpretive strategies being deployed by researchers in the reassessment of previous scholarship and identification of new modes of inquiry In recent years the study of medieval architecture has been transformed by the emergence of new critical perspectives and new technologies The contributors to this book are among those at the forefront of these developments Several of the essays present dramatic reinterpretations of canonical monuments including the Abbey of Saint Denis Beauvais Cathedral and Notre Dame in Paris Others consider broader methodological issues such as the applications of geometry workshop practice and the shaping of historical narratives Still others demonstrate how high tech scanning and visualization methods can enhance our understanding of construction methods and the behavior of buildings

Luyster, 2017-07-05 Offering original analysis of the convergence between sacred and secular in medieval works of art and architecture this collection explores both the usefulness and limitations of these terms for describing medieval attitudes The modern concepts of sacred and secular are shown to be effective as scholarly tools but also to risk imposing false dichotomies The authors consider medieval material culture from a broad perspective addressing works of art and architecture from England to Japan and from the seventh to the fifteenth century Although the essays take a variety of methodological approaches they are unified in their emphasis on the continuing and necessary dialectic between sacred and secular The contributors consciously frame their interpretations in terms and perspectives derived from the Middle Ages thereby demonstrating how the present art historical terminology and conceptual frameworks can obscure the complexity of medieval life and material culture The resonance among essays opens possibilities for productive cross cultural study of an issue that is relevant to a diversity of cultures and sub periods Introducing an innovative approach to the literature of the field this volume complicates and enriches our understanding of social realities across a broad spectrum of medieval worlds

Art and Material Culture in the Byzantine and Islamic Worlds Evanthia Baboula, Lesley Jessop, 2021-04-19 Dedicated to Erica Cruikshank Dodd Art and Material Culture in the Byzantine and Islamic Worlds offers new perspectives on the Christian and Muslim communities of the east Mediterranean from medieval to contemporary times The contributors examine how people from diverse religious backgrounds adapted to their changing political landscapes and show that artistic patronage consumption and practices are interwoven with constructed narratives The essays consider material and textual evidence for painted media architecture and the creative process in Byzantium Crusader era polities the Ottoman empire and the modern Middle East thus demonstrating the importance of the past in understanding the present Contributors Evanthia Baboula Lesley Jessop Anthony Cutler Jaroslav Folda John Osborne Glenn Peers Annemarie Weyl Carr Mat Immerzeel Bas Snelders Angela Andersen May Farhat Marcus Milwright Rico Franses The Archaeology of Byzantine Anatolia Philipp Niewöhner, 2017 This book accounts for the tumultuous period of the fifth to eleventh centuries from the Fall of Rome and the collapse of the Western Roman Empire through the breakup of the Eastern Roman Empire and loss of pan Mediterranean rule until the Turks arrived and seized Anatolia The volume is divided into a dozen syntheses that each addresses an issue of intrigue for the archaeology of Anatolia and two dozen case studies on single sites that exemplify its richness Anatolia was the only major part of the Roman Empire that did not fall in late antiquity it remained steadfast under Roman rule through the eleventh century Its personal history stands to elucidate both the emphatic impact of Roman administration in the wake of pan Mediterranean collapse Thanks to Byzantine archaeology we now know that urban decline did not set in before the fifth century after Anatolia had already be thoroughly Christianized in the course of the fourth century we know now that urban decline as it occurred from the fifth century onwards was paired with rural prosperity and an increase in the number size and quality of rural settlements and in rural population that this ruralization was halted during the seventh to ninth centuries when Anatolia was invaded first by the Persians and then by the Arabs and the population appears to have sought shelter behind new urban fortifications and in large cathedrals Further it elucidates that once the Arab threat had ended in the ninth century this ruralization set in once more and most cities seem to have been abandoned or reduced to villages during the ensuing time of seeming tranquility whilst the countryside experienced renewed prosperity that this trend was reversed yet again when the Seljuk Turks appeared on the scene in the eleventh century devastated the countryside and led to a revival and refortification of the former cities This dynamic historical thread traced across its extremes through the lens of Byzantine archaeology speaks not only to the torrid narrative of Byzantine Anatolia but to the enigmatic medievalization

Architecture and Ritual in the Churches of Constantinople Vasileios Marinis,2014-01-13 This book examines the interchange of architecture and ritual in the Middle and Late Byzantine churches of Constantinople ninth to fifteenth centuries It employs archaeological and archival data hagiographic and historical sources liturgical texts and commentaries and monastic typika and testaments to integrate the architecture of the medieval churches of Constantinople with liturgical and extra liturgical practices and their continuously evolving social and cultural context The book argues against the approach that has dominated Byzantine studies that of functional determinism the view that architectural form always follows liturgical function Instead proceeding chapter by chapter through the spaces of the Byzantine church it investigates how architecture responded to the exigencies of the rituals and how church spaces eventually acquired new uses The church building is described in the context of the culture and people whose needs it was continually adapted to serve Rather than viewing churches as frozen in time usually the time when the last brick was laid this study argues that they were social constructs and so were never finished but continually evolving

Eastern Medieval Architecture Robert G. The Statues of Constantinople Albrecht Berger,2021-07-15 This Element discusses the ancient statues once set up in Byzantine

Constantinople with a special focus on their popular reception From its foundation by Constantine the Great in 324 Constantinople housed a great number of statues which stood in the city on streets and public places or were kept in several collections and in the Hippodrome Almost all of them except a number of newly made statues of reigning emperors were ancient objects which had been brought to the city from other places Many of these statues were later identified with persons other than those they actually represented or received an allegorical sometimes even an apocalyptical interpretation When the Crusaders of the Fourth Crusade conquered the city in 1204 almost all of the statues of Constantinople were destroyed or looted
