Ecocriticism and the Island Pippa Marland, 2022-12-19 Islands have long been the subject of cultural fascination but in recent decades they have exerted an increasingly powerful centrifugal force sending writers to the outer edges of the British Irish archipelago in search of inspiration and insight Drawing on contemporary ecocritical approaches island studies and emergent archipelagic perspectives Ecocriticism and the Island explores a wide selection of island themed creative non fiction Through a combination of textual analysis and where possible original interviews and archival research Pippa Marland offers new insights into the work of Tim Robinson Brenda Chamberlain Christine Evans W G Sebald Stephen Watts Amy Liptrot Kathleen Jamie Adam Nicolson Robert Macfarlane and David Gange In assessing the ways in which these authors negotiate existing cultural tropes of the island while offering their own distinctive articulations of islandness this book represents an important intervention into island literary studies At the same time it contributes to the development of an archipelagic strand of ecocriticism one that offers a valuable perspective on human environmental relationships in an Anthropocene context

Birds in a Cage Derek Niemann, 2012-01-11 At Warburg Germany in 1941 four British PoWs find an unexpected means of escape from the horrors of internment when they form a birdwatching society and embark on an obsessive quest behind barbed wire Through their shared love of birds they overcome hunger hardship fear and stultifying boredom Their quest draws in not only their fellow prisoners but also some of the German guards at great risk to them all Derek Niemann draws on original diaries letters and drawings to tell of how Conder Barrett Waterston and Buxton were forged by their experiences as POWs into the giants of post war wildlife conservation Their legacy lives on in institutions such as the RSPB and the British Wildlife Trust      The Naturalist ,1982      The New Nature Writing Jos Smith,2017-05-04 This book is available as open access through the Bloomsbury Open Access programme and is available on www.bloomsburycollections.com In the last decade there has been a proliferation of landscape writing in Britain and Ireland often referred to as The New Nature Writing Rooted in the work of an older generation of environment focused authors and activists this new form is both stylistically innovative and mindful of ecology and conservation practice The New Nature Writing Rethinking the Literature of Place connects these two generations to show that the contemporary energy around the cultures of landscape and place is the outcome of a long standing relationship between environmentalism and the arts Drawing on original interviews with authors archival research and scholarly work in the fields of literary geographies ecocriticism and archipelagic criticism the book covers the work of such writers as Robert Macfarlane Richard Mabey Tim Robinson and Alice Oswald Examining the ways in which these authors have engaged with a wide range of different environments from the edgelands to island spaces Jos Smith reveals how they recreate a resourceful and dynamic sense of localism in rebellion against the homogenising growth of clone town Britain      The Zoological Record ,2002-12      Reel Nature Gregg Mitman,1999 Americans have had a long standing love affair with the wilderness As cities grew and frontiers disappeared film emerged to feed an insatiable curiosity about wildlife The camera promised to bring us into contact with the animal world undetected and unarmed Yet the camera s penetration of this world has inevitably brought human artifice and technology into the picture as well In the first major analysis of American nature films in the twentieth century Gregg Mitman shows how our cultural values scientific needs and new technologies produced the images that have shaped our contemporary view of wildlife Like the museum and the zoo the nature film sought to recreate the experience of unspoiled nature while appealing to a popular audience through a blend of scientific research and commercial promotion education and entertainment authenticity and artifice Travelogue expedition films like Teddy Roosevelt s African safari catered to upper and middle class patrons who were intrigued by the exotic and entertained by the thrill of big game hunting and collecting The proliferation of nature movies and television shows in the 1950s such as Disney s True Life Adventures and Marlin Perkins s Wild Kingdom made nature familiar and accessible to America s baby boom generation fostering the environmental activism of the latter part of the twentieth century Reel Nature reveals the shifting conventions of nature films and their enormous impact on our perceptions of and politics about the environment Whether crafted to elicit thrills or to educate audiences about the real life drama of threatened wildlife nature films then and now reveal much about the yearnings of Americans to be both close to nature and yet distinctly apart      Transactions of the Cardiff Naturalists' Society Cardiff Naturalists' Society,1886      The Natural History of Wales William Condry,William Condry Staff,1990      The Islands of England J.
