Robert Van de Noort

The Humber Wetlands The Archaeology Of A Dynamic Landscape Landscapes Of Britian:

The Humber Wetlands Robert Van de Noort, 2004 The lowlands of the Humber Basin form one of Britain's most extensive wetland areas This book reveals the buried ancient landscapes which lie under the peat It is the result of an English Heritage funded project which aimed to identify and explore this archaeology before it was damaged English Landscapes and Identities Chris Gosden, Chris Green, Anwen Cooper, Miranda Creswell, Victoria Donnelly, Tyler Franconi, Roger Glyde, Zena Kamash, Sarah Mallet, Laura Morley, Daniel Stansbie, Letty ten Harkel, 2021-05-06 Long before the Norman Conquest of 1066 England saw periods of profound change that transformed the landscape and the identities of those who occupied it The Bronze and Iron Ages saw the introduction of now familiar animals and plants such as sheep horses wheat and oats as well as new forms of production and exchange and the first laying out of substantial fields and trackways which continued into the earliest Romano British landscapes The Anglo Saxon period saw the creation of new villages based around church and manor with ridge and furrow cultivation strips still preserved today The basis for this volume is The English Landscapes and Identities project which synthesised all the major available sources of information on English archaeology to examine this crucial period of landscape history from the middle Bronze Age c 1500 BC to the Domesday survey c 1086 AD It looks at the nature of archaeological work undertaken across England to assess its strengths and weaknesses when writing long term histories Among many other topics it examines the interaction of ecology and human action in shaping the landscape issues of movement across the landscape in various periods changing forms of food over time an understanding of spatial scale and questions of enclosing and naming the landscape culminating in a discussion of the links between landscape and identity The result is the first comprehensive account of the English landscape over a crucial 2500 year period It also offers a celebration of many centuries of archaeological work especially the intensive large scale investigations that have taken place since the 1960s and transformed our understanding of England's past The Archaeology of Europe's Drowned Landscapes Geoff Bailey, Nena Galanidou, Hans Peeters, Hauke Jöns, Moritz Mennenga, 2020-04-09 This open access volume provides for the first time a comprehensive description and scientific evaluation of underwater archaeological finds referring to human occupation of the continental shelf around the coastlines of Europe and the Mediterranean when sea levels were lower than present These are the largest body of underwater finds worldwide amounting to over 2500 find spots ranging from individual stone tools to underwater villages with unique conditions of preservation The material reviewed here ranges in date from the Lower Palaeolithic period to the Bronze Age and covers 20 countries bordering all the major marine basins from the Atlantic coasts of Ireland and Norway to the Black Sea and from the western Baltic to the eastern Mediterranean The finds from each country are presented in their archaeological context with information on the history of discovery conditions of preservation and visibility their relationship to regional changes in sea level and coastal geomorphology and the institutional arrangements for their investigation and protection Editorial introductions summarise the findings from each of the major marine basins There is also a final section with extensive discussion of the historical background and the legal and regulatory frameworks that inform the management of the underwater cultural heritage and collaboration between offshore industries archaeologists and government agencies The volume is based on the work of COST Action TD0902 SPLASHCOS a multi disciplinary and multi national research network supported by the EU funded COST organisation European Cooperation in Science and Technology The primary readership is research and professional archaeologists marine and Quaternary scientists cultural heritage managers commercial and governmental organisations policy makers and all those with an interest in the sea floor of the continental shelf and the human impact of changes in climate sea level and coastal geomorphology Water and Roman Urbanism Adam Rogers,2013-04-15 Water and Roman Urbanism Towns Waterscapes Land Transformation and Experience in Roman Britain offers a new perspective for investigating Roman settlement and how urban spaces were created and experienced by focusing on the relationship between settlement and water and the meanings attributed to these places Rather than a descriptive approach to the urban fabric it emphasises social context and cultural meaning through interpretative frameworks of analysis Central are the cultural and experiential implications of water forming part of towns rather than economic and practical arguments and the way in which these places were used and altered over time The book emphasises a social approach and has considerable implications for our understanding of life in the Roman period as a whole The Drowning of a Cornish Prehistoric Landscape Andy M. Jones,Michael J. Allen,2023-06-01 Between 2018 and 2019 Cornwall Archaeological Unit undertook two projects at Mount s Bay Penwith The first involved the excavation of a Bronze Age barrow and the second environmental augur core sampling in Marazion Marsh Both sites lie within an area of coastal hinterland which has been subject to incursions by rising sea levels Since the Mesolithic an area of approximately 1 kilometer in extent between the current shoreline and St Michael s Mount has been lost to gradually rising sea levels With current climate change this process is likely to occur at an increasing rate Given their proximity the opportunity was taken to draw the results from the two projects together along with all available existing environmental data from the area For the first time the results from all previous palaeoenvironmental projects in the Mount s Bay area have been brought together Evidence for coastal change and sea level rise is discussed and a model for the drowning landscape presented In addition to modeling the loss of land and describing the environment over time social responses including the wider context of the Bronze Age barrow and later Bronze Age metalwork deposition in the Mount s Bay environs are considered The effects of the gradual loss of land are discussed in terms of how change is perceived its effects on community resilience and the construction of social memory and narratives of place The volume presents the potential for nationally significant environmental data to survive which demonstrates the long term effects of climate change and rising sea levels and peoples responses to these over time

Medieval Devon and Cornwall Dr. Sam Turner,2006 The countryside of Devon and Cornwall preserves an unusually rich legacy from its medieval past This book explores the different elements which go to make up this historic landscape the chapels crosses castles and mines the tinworks and strip fields and above all the intricately worked counterpane of hedgebanks and winding lanes Between AD 500 and 1700 a series of revolutions transformed the structure of the South West Peninsula s rural landscape The book tells the story of these changes and also explores how people experienced the landscape in which they lived how they came to imbue places with symbolic and cultural meaning Contributors include Ralph Fyfe on the pollen evidence of landscape change Sam Turner on the Christian landscape Peter Herring on both strip fields and Brown Willy Bodmin Moor O H Creighton and J P Freeman on castles Phil Newman on tin working and Lucy Franklin on folklore and imagined landscapes Reflections: 50 Years of Medieval Archaeology, 1957-2007: No. 30 Roberta Gilchrist, Andrew Reynolds, 2018-12-13 This volume celebrates the 50th anniversary of the Society for Medieval Archaeology established in 1957 presenting reflections on the history development and future prospects of the discipline The papers are drawn from a series of conferences and workshops that took place in 2007 08 in addition to a number of contributions that were commissioned especially for the volume They range from personal commentaries on the history of the Society and the growth of the subject see papers by David Wilson and Rosemary Cramp to historiographical regional and thematic overviews of major trends in the evolution and current practice of medieval archaeology All the publications are fully refereed with the aim of publishing at the highest academic level reports on sites of national and international importance and of encouraging the widest debate The series objectives are to cover the broadest chronological and geographical range and to assemble a series of volumes which reflect the changing intellectual and technical scope of the discipline Environment, Archaeology and Landscape: Papers in honour of Professor Martin Bell Catherine Barnett, Thomas Walker, 2021-10-21 Dedicated to Martin Bell University of Reading this book outlines how wetland and inland environments can be related and investigated using multi method approaches Papers fall under three themes coastal and intertidal archaeology mobility and human environment relationships heritage resource management nature conservation and rewilding Water and the Environment in the Anglo-Saxon World Maren Clegg Hyer, Della Hooke, 2017 This study of the waterscapes of the Anglo Saxon world will assist serious students of the Anglo Saxon period in both perceiving and understanding both the textual imagery and the archaeology of water in Anglo Saxon England Discovering a Welsh Landscape Ian Brown, 2004 In the far north east corner of Wales a line of hills looks east across the plain into England guarding the way towards Snowdonia Designated an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty the Clwydian Range has a very rich archaeology This beautifully illustrated book tells the story of this landscape a history of Wales in microcosm At the northern end of the Welsh March the Clwydian Range is a crossroads a place where outside influences have always been profound The book consequently places the Range s archaeology in the context of the broader themes in Welsh and British history We learn of the mammoth bones left in the area s caves by Paleaeolithic hunters the great chain of Iron Age hillforts that crown the Range the bronze brooches in

Romano British burials from the medieval period motte and bailey castles and Gothic churches the watercourses mines and engine houses of the industrial era the Range's links with the great poet Gerard Manley Hopkins Throughout the photographs capture the spirit of Hopkins original landscape plotted and pieced The Clwydian Range is perhaps typical of Britain where places have a great depth of historical connections This book shows how much there is to be discovered Ian Brown formerly County Heritage Officer for Clwyd managed the Clwydian Range Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty Mick Sharp and Jean Williamson are two of Britain's leading archaeological and landscape photographers
