Post-War British Women Novelists and the Canon Nick Turner, 2011-11-03 With the increasing number of books on contemporary fiction there is a need for a work that examines whom we value and why These questions lie at the heart of this book which by focusing on four novelists literary and popular interrogates the canon over the last fifty years The argument unfolds to demonstrate that academic trends increasingly control canonicity as do the demands of genre the increasing commercialisation of literature and the power of the literary prize Turner argues that literary excellence demonstrated by style and imaginative power is often missing in many works that have become modern classics and makes a case for the value of the universal in literature Written in a jargon free style with reference to many supporting writers the book raises a number of significant cultural questions about the arts fashions and literary reputations of interest to readers in contemporary literary studies understand them better but also to understand itself in relation to a past literary tradition aesthetic paradigms cultural formations etc that has not really passed Penelope Fitzgerald's The Blue Flower Peter Ackroyd's The Last Testament of Oscar Wilde and Chatterton Peter Carey's Jack Maggs Michael Cunningham's The Hours Colm Toibin's The Master and Geoff Dyer's Out of Sheer Rage Wrestling with D H Lawrence the mighty dead Harold Bloom are brought back to life reanimated and bodied forth in new textual bodies that project a post modern understanding of the author as a historically and culturally contingent subjectivity constructed along the lines of gender sexual orientation class and nationality
