The Classical Parthenon William St Clair,2022-08-24 Complementing Who Saved the Parthenon this companion volume sets aside more recent narratives surrounding the Athenian Acropolis supposedly the very symbol of democracy itself instead asking if we can truly access an ancient past imputed with modern meaning And if so how In this book William St Clair presents a reconstructed understanding of the Parthenon from within the classical Athenian worldview He explores its role and meaning by weaving together a range of textual and visual sources into two innovative oratorical experiments a speech in the style of Thucydides and a first century CE rhetorical exercise which are used to develop a narrative analysis of the temple structure revealing a strange story of indigeneity origins and empire The Classical Parthenon offers new answers to old questions such as the riddle of the Parthenon frieze and provides a framing device for the wider relationship between visual artefacts built heritage and layers of accumulated cultural rhetoric This groundbreaking and pertinent work will appeal across the disciplines to readers interested in the classics art history and the nature of history while also speaking to a general audience that is interrogating the role of monuments in contemporary society Early Christianity in South-West Britain Elizabeth Rees, 2020-03-30 This book offers a new assessment of early Christianity in south west Britain from the fourth to the tenth centuries a rich period which includes the transition from Roman to native British to Saxon models of church The book will be based on evidence from archaeological excavations early texts and recent critical scholarship and cover Wessex Devon and Cornwall In the south west Wessex provides the greatest evidence of Roman Christianity The fifth century Dorset villas of Frampton and Hinton St Mary with their complex baptistery mosaics indicate the presence of sophisticated Christian house churches The fact that these two Roman villas are only 15 miles apart suggests a network of small Christian communities in this region The author uses evidence from St Patrick s fifth century Confessions to describe how members of a villa house church lived Wessex was slowly Christianised in Gloucestershire the pagan healing sanctuary at Chedworth provides evidence of later use as a Christian baptistery at Bradford on Avon in Wiltshire a baptistery was dug into the mosaic floor of an imposing villa which may by then have been owned by a bishop In Somerset a number of recently excavated sites demonstrate the transition from a pagan temple to a Christian church Beside the pagan temple at Lamyatt later female burials suggest unusually a small monastic group of women Wells cathedral grew beside the site of a Roman villa s funeral chapel In Street a large oval enclosure indicates the probable site of a Celtic monastery Early Christian cemeteries have been excavated at Shepton Mallet and elsewhere Lundy Island off the Devon coast provides evidence of a Celtic monastery with its inscribed stones that commemorate early monks At Exeter a Saxon anthology includes numerous riddles one of which describes in detail the production of an illuminated manuscript in a south western monastery Oliver Padel s meticulous documentation of Cornish place names has demonstrated that of all the Celtic regions Cornwall has by far the highest number of dedications to a single otherwise unknown individual typically consisting of a small church and a farm by the sea These small monastic cells have hitherto received little attention as a model of church in early British Christianity and the latter part of the text focuses on various aspects of this model as lived out in coastal and in upland settlements on islands and in relation to larger Breton monasteries Study of 60 Breton sites has demonstrated possible connections between larger Breton monasteries and smaller Cornish cells Conversations with Catalogers in the 21st Century Elaine R.
