Citizen-soldiers and Manly Warriors R. Claire Snyder, 1999 What happens in a tradition that links citizenship with soldiering when women become citizens Citizen Soldiers and Manly Warriors Military Service and Gender in the Civic Republican Tradition provides an in depth analysis of the theory and practice of the citizen soldier in historical context Using a postmodern feminist lens Snyder reveals that within the citizen soldier tradition citizenship and masculinity are simultaneously constituted through engagement in civic and martial practices Seeking to sever the connection between masculinity and citizenship Snyder calls for women to make gender trouble by engaging in the practices traditionally constitutive of masculine republican citizenship However in order to reconstitute the Citizen Soldier tradition the only tradition we have that holds the military up to democratic standards we must not only trouble but also reconfigure our understandings of gender and citizenship Thus gender parity in the American military is not enough We must also change the type of masculinity produced by the military reintroduce the military to its civic purposes expand the citizenship of civic practices to include other non martial forms of service and give citizens a greater role in political decision making

From Widows to Warriors Lynn Japinga, 2020-08-25 For too long the women of the Bible have been depicted in one dimensional terms On one side are saints such as Mary while on the other are bad girls such as Eve and Jezebel Just as often the female characters of the Bible are simply ignored However the women of the Bible are complex multidimensional individuals whose lives are inspiring funny and tragic in ways too many of us never hear In this first of two volumes Lynn Japinga acquaints us with the women of the Old Testament From flawed heroes like Ruth and Rahab to fierce fighters like Deborah and Jael to tragic characters like Jephthah s daughter and the unnamed concubine of the book of Judges readers will encounter a wealth of foremothers in the faith in all their messy yet redeemable humanity This Bible study introduces and retells every female character who contributes to one or more Old Testament stories diving deeply into what each woman s story means for us today with questions for reflection and discussion

Again to the Life of Eternity Frank A. Vaughan,1996 This work postulates that the set of 116 designs by William Blake illustrated herein is not a series of individual responses to the pieces of text they accompany nor is it a series of responses to the individual poems of Thomas Gray The designs are also more than illustrations or corrections of Gray s speakers or of Gray himself In the Gray designs Blake was using the opportunity given him by John and Ann Flaxman in 1797 to explore and explain visually the reformist malaise in the reactionary nineties when the general economic well being and optimism had been replaced by the effects of war and fear For Blake the collapse into the later 1790s is the failure of the imaginative will to sustain the impetus that the American and French Revolutions had begun Blake saw several causes for this failure of will and created a set of designs rich in allusions and dense with visual conventions These visual topoi are personal topical classical biblical and literary Thus there is a need for a study of the Gray designs that sees them as they are a unity rich with visual conventions partaking of Blake s revolutionary pattern of development and desire to reshape in specific ways the mind of his audience

War of Visions Francis M. Deng,2011-10-01 The civil war that has intermittently raged in the Sudan since independence in 1956 is according to Francis Deng a conflict of contrasting and seemingly incompatible identities in the Northern and Southern parts of the country Identity is seen as a function of how people identify themselves and are identified in racial ethnic cultural linguistic and religious terms The identity question related to how such concepts determine or influence participation and distribution in the political economic social and cultural life of the country War of Visions aims at shedding light on the anomalies of the identity conflict The competing models in the Sudan are the Arab Islamic mold of the North representing two thirds of the country in territory and population and the remaining Southern third which is indigenously African in race ethnicity culture and religion with an educated Christianized elite But although the North is popularly defined as racially Arab the people are a hybrid of Arab and African elements with the African physical characteristics predominating in most tribal groups This configuration is the result of a historical process that stratified races cultures and religions and fostered a passing into the Arab Islamic mold that discriminated against the African race and cultures The outcome of this process is a polarization that is based more on myth than on the realities of the situation The identity crisis has been further complicated by the fact that Northerners want to fashion the country on the basis of their Arab Islamic identity while the South is decidedly resistant Francis Deng presents three alternative approaches to the identity crisis First he argues that by bringing to the surface the realities of the African elements of identity in the North thereby revealing characteristics shared by all Sudanese a new basis for the creation of a common identity could be established that fosters equitable      The Journal of African American History
