notice and that are put forward with an honesty of intention born of sincere conviction Since the days of Purcell England has happily produced many estimable musicians but not one who is more closely allied in spirit to that first and foremost of all native composers than Sir Arthur Sullivan During the present century we have known the facile fecund genius of Michael William Balfe and the finished style of William Sterndale Bennett but in each of these there was a quality lacking and this minimised the value of their compositions as a whole and forbade them that unique place in the Temple of Art which otherwise might have been theirs But in Arthur Sullivan the chief characteristics of these two men are united with the happiest results with the one he shares that marvellous flow of spontaneous melody and with the other that mastery of refined and carefully chosen expression which gives such charm to his various compositions True it is that *Sir Arthur Sullivan; Life-story, Letters and Reminiscences.
