Songhay Benin Burkina Faso Mali Niger:

The Sociolinguistics of Development in Africa Paulin G. Djité, 2008 This book is an analysis of modernisation informed by the place of language in education health the economy and governance in the African context It paints a wide canvas of Africa in its different facets and shows how language is used as an instrument to deny access to socioeconomic and political emancipation

Language and Development in Africa H. Ekkehard Wolff, 2016-05-26 Development is based on communication through language With more than two thousand languages being used in Africa language becomes a highly relevant factor in all sectors of political social cultural and economic life This important sociolinguistic dimension hitherto remains underrated and under researched in Western mainstream development studies The book discusses the resourcefulness of languages both local and global in view of the ongoing transformation of African societies as much as for economic development From a novel applied African sociolinguistics perspective it analyses the continuing effects of linguistic imperialism on postcolonial African societies in particular regarding the educational sector through imposed hegemonic languages such as Arabic and the ex colonial languages of European provenance It offers a broad interdisciplinary scientific approach to the linguistic dimensions of sociocultural modernisation and economic development in Africa written for both the non linguistically trained reader as much as for the linguistically trained researcher and language practitioner

International Encyclopedia of Linguistics William Frawley, 2003-05 The International Encyclopedia of Linguistics 2nd Edition encompasses the full range of the contemporary field of linguistics including historical comparative formal mathematical functional and philosophical linguistics with special attention given to interrelations within branches of linguistics and to relations of linguistics with other disciplines Areas of intersection with the social and behavioral sciences ethnolinguistics sociolinguistics psycholinguistics and behavioral linguistics receive major coverage along with interdisciplinary work in language and literature mathematical linguistics computational linguistics and applied linguistics Longer entries in the International Encyclopedia of Linguistics ranging up to four thousand words survey the major fields of study for example anthropological linguistics history of linguistics semantics and phonetics Shorter entries treat specific topics within these fields such as code switching sound symbolism and syntactic features Other short entries define and discuss technical terms used within the various subfields or provide sketches of the careers of important scholars in the history of linguistics such as Leonard Bloomfield Roman Jakobson and Edward Sapir A major portion of the work is its extensive coverage of languages and language families From those as familiar as English Japanese and the Romance languages to Hittite Yoruba and Nahuatl all corners of the world receive treatment Languages that are the subject of independent entries are analyzed in terms of their phonology grammatical features syntax and writing systems Lists attached to each article on a language group or family enumerate all languages extinct or still spoken within that group and provide detailed information on the number of known speakers geographical range and degree of intelligibility with other languages languages in specialized domains for national and continental development World Directory of Minorities Bridget Anderson, James Chin, John Connell, Patrick Costello, Lindsey Crickmay, Chris Dammers, James Ferguson, David Hawk, David McDowall, Anna Matveeva, Julia Maxted, Neil Melvin, Peter O'Neill, Suzanne Pattle, Martyn Rady, Javaid Rehman, Alex Roslin, Nikhil Roy, David Sogge, Bogdan Szajkowski, Carl Wilson, Abebe Zegeye, 1997-01-01 This publication is the first version of the World Directory of Minorities and Indigenous Peoples published in 1997 The full Directory is now available and continually updated on our website The large majority of violent conflicts in the world today are conflicts within states with groups polarized across ethnic and religious divides and not across borders Ethnic religious and linguistic minorities are often among the poorest of the poor suffer discrimination and are frequently the victims of human rights abuses Time and time again in the past the United Nations system governments and even non governmental organizations NGOs working in the field of conflict prevention have failed to promote the human rights of minorities or to take early action to promote cooperation between communities Early action may have prevented the loss of millions of lives in many countries ranging from Rwanda to the former Yugoslavia and from Sri Lanka to Guatemala It is also significant that the Nobel Peace Prize was awarded to the Dalai Lama in 1989 and to Jose Ramos Horta and Bishop Carlos Belo in 1996 as a result of their peaceful campaigns to promote the rights of their people The situation of minorities is then a matter of major concern and it is essential that accurate objective and up to date information is made available This Directory contributes to that process It is difficult to assess accurately what proportion of the world's population identify themselves as belonging to minority communities Conservative estimates place this above 10 per cent and some suggest that more than 20 per cent of the world's population belongs to several thousand different minority groups and subgroups National statistics are often skewed for political reasons and there is no universally accepted definition of minorities The word has different interpretations in different societies throughout the world while the United Nations General Assembly has not sought to reach a definition beyond that implied in the title of the UN Declaration on the Rights of Persons belonging to National or Ethnic Religious and Linguistic Minorities adopted in December 1992 Minority Rights Group focuses its work on non dominant ethnic religious and linguistic communities whether or not they are numerical minorities The concept thus relates to any self identified community that is marginalized without power unable to take decisions over its destiny and often experiencing high levels of illiteracy under education and overt or covert discrimination The basic rights of such communities need protection and promotion There is however a danger of generalizing about minorities and forgetting the complexity of their social composition including the rural poor urban migrants older people women and children These groups may be considered as doubly vulnerable What makes their situation particularly problematic is that there is often a deliberate political policy on the part of majorities and states not to give due regard to the legitimate interests of minorities while members of minorities see their identity as central to their social and economic situation They are often excluded from political power and decision making in the development process without equal opportunities to secure a better quality of life. One further danger may lie in regarding ethnicities as fixed rather than as the potentially fluid phenomena that they often are. Situational ethnicity does occur and individuals and groups do modify their self-identifications depending on circumstances. Please note that the terminology in the fields of minority rights and indigenous peoples' rights has changed over time. MRG strives to reflect these changes as well as respect the right to self-identification on the part of minorities and indigenous peoples. At the same time, after over 50 years of work, we know that our archive is of considerable interest to activists and researchers. Therefore, we make available as much of our back catalogue as possible while being aware that the language used may not reflect current thinking on these issues.

The Oxford Handbook of African Languages Rainer Vossen, Gerrit Jan Dimmendaal, 2020
This book provides a comprehensive overview of current research in African languages drawing on insights from anthropological linguistics, typology, historical and comparative linguistics, and sociolinguistics. It covers a wide range of topics from grammatical sketches of individual languages to sociocultural and extralinguistic issues.

The Baobabs: Pachycauls of Africa, Madagascar and Australia G.E. Wickens, 2008-03-02
This is the only comprehensive account of all eight species in the genus Adansonia. It describes the historical background from the late Roman period to the present. It covers the extraordinary variety of economic uses of baobabs. There are also appendices on vernacular names, gazetteer, economics, nutrition, and forest mensuration. This book fills a gap in the botanical literature. It deals with a genus that has fascinated and intrigued scientists and lay persons for centuries.

Encyclopedia of the World's Minorities Carl Skutsch, 2013-11-07
This study of minorities involves the difficult issues of rights, justice, equality, dignity, identity, autonomy, political liberties, and cultural freedoms. The A-Z Encyclopedia presents the facts, arguments, and areas of contention in over 560 entries in a clear, objective manner. For a full list of entries, contributors, and more, visit the Encyclopedia of the World's Minorities website.

African Ethnonyms Daniel P. Biebuyck, Susan Kelliher, Linda McRae, 1996
A reference of some 2,500 names of specific African ethnic groups. Emphasis is on the art of sub-Saharan Africa with art broadly interpreted to include ornamental design, architecture, textiles, and body adornment, as well as the traditional arts of masks and sculpture. Organized alphabetically, entries list countries where groups are located and language name. A secondary index lists groups by country and provides notes on historical, colonial, occupation, languages, and print resources. For librarians, museum scholars, and researchers in art, history, anthropology, linguistics, and African studies. Annotation copyright by Book News Inc, Portland, OR.

Historical Dictionary of Niger Abdourahmane Idrissa, Samuel Decalo, 2012-06-01
The fourth edition of the Historical Dictionary of Niger covers the history of the peoples of the Republic of Niger from medieval times to the present. This is done through a chronology, an introductory essay, and an extensive bibliography. The dictionary section has over 700 cross-referenced entries covering elements of pre-colonial and colonial history, recent politics, cinema, literature, religion, economics, and finance. This book is an excellent access point for students, researchers, and anyone wanting to know more about Niger.
