Memory and the Built Environment in 20th-Century American Literature Alice Levick, 2021-05-20 From the paving of the Los Angeles River in 1938 and the creation of the GI Bill in 1944 to the construction of the Interstate Highway System during the late 1950s and the brownstoning movement of the 1970s, throughout the mid 20th century the United States saw a wave of changes that had an enduring impact on the development of urban spaces. Focusing on the relationship between processes of demolition and restoration as they have shaped the modern built environment and the processes by which memory is constructed, hidden or remade in the literary text, this book explores the ways in which history becomes entangled with the urban space in which it plays out. Alice Levick takes stock of this history both in the form of its externalised concretised manifestation and its more symbolic representation as depicted in the mid 20th century work of a selection of American writers. Calling upon access to archival material and interviews with New York academics, authors, local historians and urban planners, this book locates Freud's Uncanny in the cracks between the absent and present, invisible and visible memory and history as they are presented in city narratives, demonstrating both the passage of time and the imposition of 20th century modernism. With reference to the works of D J Waldie, Joan Didion

Hisaye Yamamoto Raymond Chandler Marshall Berman Gil Cuadros Paule Marshall L J Davis and Paula Fox Memory and the Built Environment in 20th Century American Literature unpacks how time becomes visible in Los Angeles Sacramento Lakewood and New York in the decades just before and after the Second World War questioning how these spaces provide access to the past in both narrative and spatial forms and how at times this access is blocked

The Orphan in Fiction and Comics since the 19th Century Marion Gymnich, Barbara Puschmann-Nalenz, Gerold Sedlmayr, 2018-07-27 The orphan has turned out to be an extraordinarily versatile literary figure By juxtaposing diverse fictional representations of orphans this volume sheds light on the development of cultural concepts such as childhood family the status of parental legacy individualism identity and charity The first chapter argues that the figure of the orphan was suitable for negotiating a remarkable range of cultural anxieties and discourses in novels from the Victorian period This is followed by a discussion of both the rare examples of novels from the first half of the 20th century in which main characters are orphaned at a young age and Anglophone narratives written from the 1980s onward when the figure of the orphan proliferated once more The trope of the picaresque the theme of absence and the problem of parental substitutes are among the issues addressed in contemporary orphan narratives The book also looks at the orphan motif in three popular fantasy series namely Rowling's Harry Potter septology Pullman's His Dark Materials trilogy and Martin's A Song of Ice and Fire series It then traces the development of the orphan motif from the end of the 19th century to the present in a range of different types of comics including funnies and gag a day strips superhero comics underground comix and autobiographical comics
