Sound of Austria, 1985 Austria today, 1988 Film Evaluation Guide, 1946-1964 Educational Film Library Association, 1965 Musical Theater in Schools Rekha S. Rajan, 2019-01-03 Musical Theater in Schools Purpose Process and Performance is a comprehensive resource for general classroom teachers music and drama educators The book is the first of its kind to provide strategies for including musical theater across the K 12 curriculum inviting teachers and arts specialists to utilize musical theater as an interdisciplinary art form within their own classrooms or as collaborative projects throughout the school community Typically relegated to after school activities musical theater can have a strong place both as an avenue for performance creativity and self expression or as a pathway for student learning about academic subjects Drawing upon musical theater terminology the book is organized into three distinct acts The first section gives an overview of how this popular art form developed and how its stories reflect our culture and community with descriptions of musical theater as a profession for adults and for children This section also discusses musical theater's compromised position within the arts often relegated to theater departments even though repertoire and songs are available to music teachers and argues for musicals as a form of interdisciplinary education The second section outlines ways of integrating musical theater into the curriculum with considerations for the National Core Arts Standards The third section provides suggestions for auditions casting rehearsing and presenting a complete production with a specific focus on student centered performances Based on the author's own experiences as a professional musical theater performer coupled with teaching and research in classroom settings the book reasons that you do not have to be a Broadway star to teach or perform musical theater This unique and innovative book supports educators through the process of bringing musical theater into the biggest and most important performance space the classroom stage List of Veterinary Films and Films of Veterinary Interest Permanent Committee for the International Veterinary Congresses, 1930 Austria Made in Hollywood Jacqueline Vansant, 2019 Considers over sixty Hollywood films set in Austria examining the film industry the influence of domestic factors on images of a foreign country and the persistence of clichés Maria von Trapp watching the final scene of The Sound of Music for the first time as her family escaped into Switzerland exclaimed Don't they know geography in Hollywood Salzburg does not border on Switzerland Hadshe thought about the beginning of the film which transports viewers to Salzburg Austria in the last Golden Days of the Thirties when the country was in fact suffering from extreme political and social unrest she might have asked Don't they know history either In The Sound of Music as well as in Hollywood's many other Austria films the projections on the screen resemble reflections in a funhouse mirror Elements of a real place with areal history inhabited by real people can be found in the fractured distortions which have both drawn from and contributed to the general public's perceptions of the country and its citizens Austria Made in Hollywood focuses on films set in an identifiable Austria examining them through the lenses of the historical contexts on both sides of the Atlantic and the prism of the ever changing domestic film industry The study chronicles the protean screen images of Austria and Austrians that set them apart both from European projections of Austria and from Hollywood incarnations of other European nations and nationals. It explores explicit and implicit cultural commentaries on domestic and foreign issues inserted in the Austrian stories while considering the many sometimes conflicting forces that shaped the films.

Cinema and Social Change in Germany and Austria Gabriele Mueller, James M. Skidmore, 2012-09-01 During the last decade, contemporary German and Austrian cinema has grappled with new social and economic realities. The cinema of consensus, a term coined to describe the popular and commercially oriented filmmaking of the 1990s, has given way to a more heterogeneous and critical cinema culture. Making the greatest artistic impact since the 1970s, contemporary cinema is responding to questions of globalization and the effects of societal and economic change on the individual. This book explores this trend by investigating different thematic and aesthetic strategies and alternative methods of film production and distribution. Functioning both as a product and as an agent of globalizing processes, this new cinema mediates and influences important political and social debates. The contributors illuminate these processes through their analyses of cinema's intervention in discourses on such concepts as national cinema, the effects of globalization on social mobility, and the emergence of a global culture. The essays illustrate the variety and inventiveness of contemporary Austrian and German filmmaking and highlight the complicated interdependencies between global developments and local specificities. They confirm a broader trend toward a more complex, critical, and formally diverse cinematic scene. This book offers insights into the strategies employed by German and Austrian filmmakers to position themselves between the commercial pressures of the film industry and the desire to mediate or even attempt to affect social change. It will be of interest to scholars in film studies, cultural studies, and European studies.
