Diagnosis as Cultural Practice Judith Felson Duchan, Dana Kovarsky, 2009-02-26 This book is about the doing and experiencing of diagnosis in everyday life Diagnoses are revealed as interactive negotiations rather than as the assigning of diagnostic labels The authors demonstrate through detailed discourse analyses how the diagnostic process depends on power and accountability as expressed through the talk of those engaged in the diagnostic process The authors also show that diagnostic decisions are not only made by professional experts trained in the art and science of diagnosis but they can also be made by anyone trying to figure out the nature of everyday problems Finally diagnostic reasoning is found to extend beyond typical diagnostic situations occurring in unexpected places such as written letters of recommendation and talk about the nature of communication Together the chapters in this book demonstrate how diagnosis is a communication practice deeply rooted in our culture The book is interdisciplinary and unusually broad in its focus The authors come from different experiential scholarly backgrounds Each of them takes a different look at the impact and nature of the diagnostic process The diagnoses discussed include autism Alzheimer's disease speech and language disorders and menopause The focus is not only on the here and now of the diagnostic interaction but also on how diagnoses and diagnostic processes change over time The book can serve as an undergraduate or graduate text for courses offered in various disciplines including communication sociology anthropology communication disorders audiology linguistics medicine and disability studies Battle of the Books Lee Burrell, 1989 Examines increasing censorship in public schools describes the objections that lead to censorship and discusses several case studies Religion and Prime Time Television Michael Suman, 1997-10-28 How is religion portrayed on prime time entertainment television and what effect does this have on our society This book brings together the opinions of all the important factions involved in this important public policy debate including religious figures Christians Jews Muslims Buddhists and Freethinkers liberal and conservative academics media critics and journalists and representatives of the entertainment industry The debate provides contrasting views on how much and what type of religion should be on entertainment television and what relationship this has with the health of our society Many contributors also offer strategies for how to reform the present situation This is an important work that delineates the debate for the layperson as well as researchers scholars and policymakers Building Library Collections Arthur Curley, Dorothy M. Broderick, 1985 A classic Topics include resource sharing networks the importance of nonbook formats the greater complexity of censorship challenges and the expansion of the library's informational role Liberty, Justice, and Morals Burton M.
