The First Farmers of Europe Stephen Shennan, 2018-05-03 Knowledge of the origin and spread of farming has been revolutionised in recent years by the application of new scientific techniques especially the analysis of ancient DNA from human genomes In this book Stephen Shennan presents the latest research on the spread of farming by archaeologists geneticists and other archaeological scientists He shows that it resulted from a population expansion from present day Turkey Using ideas from the disciplines of human behavioural ecology and cultural evolution he explains how this process took place The expansion was not the result of population pressure but of the opportunities for increased fertility by colonising new regions that farming offered The knowledge and resources for the farming niche were passed on from parents to their children However Shennan demonstrates that the demographic patterns associated with the spread of farming resulted in population booms and busts not continuous expansion

The First Farmers of Central Europe Penny Bickle, Alasdair Whittle, 2013-07-09 From about 5500 cal BC to soon after 5000 cal BC the lifeways of the first

farmers of central Europe the LBK culture Linearbandkeramik are seen in distinctive practices of longhouse use settlement forms landscape choice subsistence material culture and mortuary rites Within the five or more centuries of LBK existence a dynamic sequence of changes can be seen in for instance the expansion and increasing density of settlement progressive regionalisation in pottery decoration and at the end some signs of stress or even localised crisis Although showing many features in common across its very broad distribution however the LBK phenomenon was not everywhere the same and there is a complicated mixture of uniformity and diversity This major study takes a strikingly large regional sample from northern Hungary westwards along the Danube to Alsace in the upper Rhine valley and addresses the question of the extent of diversity in the lifeways of developed and late LBK communities through a wide ranging study of diet lifetime mobility health and physical condition the presentation of the bodies of the deceased in mortuary ritual It uses an innovative combination of isotopic principally carbon nitrogen and strontium with some oxygen osteological and archaeological analysis to address difference and change across the LBK and to reflect on cultural change in general

Seeking the First Farmers in Western Sjælland, Denmark T. Douglas Price, 2022-06-16 This volume summarizes 30 years of fieldwork in Denmark some of the evidence for the spread of agriculture and the Neolithic into Scandinavia and some opinions about the origins of agriculture It is intended to be both academic and personal and to describe the actual process of research because most projects involve elements of both There is an introduction to each chapter that relates some of the more personal aspects of the research and the bulk of each chapter will be a more technical scientific report on our investigations Each chapter will deal with one of the components of the project survey testing and excavations We excavated eight sites from the Late Mesolithic and Early Neolithic that are discussed in this volume The concluding chapter summarizes our research in the area and proffers opinions on a variety of archaeological subjects with visits to climate change seasonality and sedentism hunter gatherer complexity aDNA inequality and the origins and spread of agriculture

The First Farmers Peter S. Bellwood, 2005

Last Hunters, First Farmers Theron Douglas Price, Anne Birgitte Gebauer, 1995 During virtually the entire four million year history of our habitation on this planet humans have been hunters and gatherers dependent for nourishment on the availability of wild plants and animals Beginning about 10 000 years ago however the most remarkable phenomenon in the course of human prehistory was set in motion At locations around the world over a period of about 5 000 years hunters became farmers Far more than the domestication of plant and animal species was involved in this revolution which was accompanied by massive changes in the structure and organization of the societies that adopted agriculture and by a totally new relationship with the environment Whereas hunter gatherers live off the land in an extensive fashion exploiting a diversity of resources over a broad area farmers utilize the landscape intensively The implications of these changes in human activity and social organization reverberate down to the present day The case studies presented here ranging from the Far East to the American Southwest provide a global perspective on contemporary research into the origins of agriculture

Downplaying more traditional explanations of the turn to agriculture such as the influence of marginal environments and population pressures the contributors to this volume emphasize instead the importance of the resource rich areas in which agriculture began the complex social organizations already in place the role of sedentism and in some locales the advent of economic intensification and competition This volume resulted from an advanced seminar held at the School of American Research in Santa Fe New Mexico Contributors include Ofer Bar Yosef Anne BirgitteGebauer Charles Higham Lawrence H Keeley Richard H Meadow Deborah M Pearsall T Douglas Price Bruce D Smith Patty Jo Watson and W H Wills Ireland Andy O`Halpin,Conor Newman,2006-10-26 Ireland is a country rich in archaeological sites Ireland An Oxford Archaeological Guide provides the ultimate handbook to this fascinating heritage Covering the entire island of Ireland from Antrim to Wexford Dublin to Sligo the book contains over 250 plans and illustrations of Ireland s major archaeological treasures and covers sites dating from the time of the first settlers in prehistoric times right up to the seventeenth century The book opens with a useful introduction to the history of Ireland setting the archaeological material in its wider historical context and then takes the reader on an unparalleled journey through the major sites and places of interest Each chapter focuses on a particular geographical region and is introduced by a useful survey of the history and geography of the region in question This is followed by detailed descriptions of the major archaeological sites within each region arranged alphabetically and including travel directions historical overview of the site and details of the site s major features and the latest available archaeological evidence As the most comprehensive and detailed compact guide to the archaeological sites of Ireland this new volume will prove invaluable to archaeologists students of Irish history and tourists alike
