The rise of Creative Writing has been accompanied from the start by two questions can it be taught and should it be taught This scepticism is sometimes shared even by those who teach it who often find themselves split between two contradictory identities the artistic and the academic Against Creative Writing explores the difference between writing which is what writers do and Creative Writing which is the instrumentalisation of what writers do Beginning with the question of whether writing can or ought to be taught it looks in turn at the justifications for BA MA and PhD courses and concludes with the divided role of the writer who teaches It argues in favour of Creative Writing as a form of hands on literary education at undergraduate level and a form of literary apprenticeship at graduate level especially in widening access to new voices It argues against those forms of Creative Writing that lose sight of literary values as seen in the proliferation of curricular couplings with non literary subjects or the increasing emphasis on developing skills for future employment Against Creative Writing written by a writer is addressed to other writers inside or outside the academy at undergraduate or graduate level whether creative or critical

Towards a Poetics of Creative Writing Dominique Hecq, 2015-03-06 This book offers an in depth study of the poetics of creative writing as a subject in the dramatically changing context of practice as research taking into account the importance of the subjectivity of the writer as researcher It explores creative writing and theory while offering critical antecedents theoretical directions and creative interchanges The book narrows the focus on psychoanalysis particularly with regard to Lacan and creative practice and demonstrates that creative writing is research in its own right The poetics at stake neither denotes the study or the techniques of poetry but rather the means by which writers formulate and discuss attitudes to their work

Creative Writing Innovations Michael Dean Clark, Trent Hergenrader, Joseph Rein, 2017-02-23 When teachers experiment students benefit When students gain confidence to pursue their own literary experiments creative writing can become a life changing experience With chapters written by experienced teachers and classroom innovators Creative Writing Innovations builds on these principles to uncover the true potential of the creative writing classroom Rooted in classroom experience this book takes teaching beyond the traditional workshop model to explore topics such as multi media genres collaborative writing and field based work as well as issues of identity Taken together this is an essential guide for teachers of creative writing at all levels from the authors and editors of Creative Writing in the Digital Age
