Jet Pioneers Tim Kershaw, 2004-03-18 In April 1941 Britain's first jet left the ground at a grass airfield 4 miles from Gloucester Cathedral. It was the start of a revolution in air travel: military and civilian. During the 1940s Britain's first ever jet aircraft, the world's first jet fighter in squadron service and the first jet to hold the world air speed record, were all designed, built and flown in the Gloucester and Cheltenham area. The story of Frank Whittle's invention and dogged development of the jet engine is well known. But the account of how his invention was put into the air has never been fully told. This book tells the story of how the men and women of north Gloucestershire made Whittle's engine fly.

Sabotage in the Arctic Stewart B. Nelson, 2007-08-28 The story of Australian born Sir Hubert Wilkins and the Nautilus is usually a brief footnote if mentioned at all of Arctic exploration history. However, it is a tale of daring enterprise and of men captivated by the pursuit of noble deeds. Having leased and extensively modified a decommissioned vintage World War I U.S. Navy submarine, the Wilkins-Ellsworth Trans-Arctic Submarine Expedition of 1931 was marked by controversy from its inception. Many considered it a huge publicity stunt, especially the planned rendezvous at the North Pole with the German airship Graf Zeppelin. The Nautilus did make it into the Arctic, but suspected sabotage ended Sir Hubert's quest to be the first to use a submarine to cross the Arctic Ocean by way of the North Pole. An oceanographer, historian, and author, Dr. Nelson is a Fellow of the Marine Technology Society, a member of the Explorers Club, and the former president of the American Oceanic Organization.

A Fabulous Kingdom Charles Officer, Jake Page, 2012-05-30 The second edition of A Fabulous Kingdom will explain the history of the Arctic and describe the current scientific and environmental issues that threaten this fascinating region.

Official Year Book of the Commonwealth of Australia No. 48 - 1962, Antarctica's Lost Aviator Jeff Maynard, 2019-02-05 By the 1930s no one had yet crossed Antarctica, and its vast interior remained a mystery, frozen in time. Hoping to write his name in the history books, wealthy American Lincoln Ellsworth announced he would fly across the unexplored continent. The main obstacles to Ellsworth's ambition were numerous: he didn't like the cold, he avoided physical work, and he couldn't navigate. Consequently, he hired the experienced Australian explorer Sir Hubert Wilkins to organize the expedition on his behalf While Ellsworth battled depression and struggled to conceal his homosexuality Wilkins purchased a ship hired a crew and ordered a revolutionary new airplane constructed The Ellsworth Trans Antarctic Expeditions became epics of misadventure as competitors plotted to beat Ellsworth crews mutinied and the ship was repeatedly trapped in the ice A few hours after taking off in 1935 radio contact with Ellsworth was lost and the world gave him up for dead Antarctica's Lost Aviator brings alive one of the strangest episodes in polar history using previously unpublished diaries correspondence photographs and film to reveal the amazing true story of the first crossing of Antarctica and how against all odds it was achieved by the unlikelyst of heroes Special Bibliography Series ,1957
