The Environment in Jewish Law Walter Jacob, Moshe Zemer, 2003-11-01 Environmental concerns are at the top of the agenda around the world Judaism like the other world religions only rarely raised issues concerning the environment in the past This means that modern Judaism the halakhic tradition no less than others must build on a slim foundation in its efforts to give guidance The essays in this volume mark the beginning of a new effort to face questions and formulate answers of vital importance

Crime and Punishment in Jewish Law Walter Jacob, Moshe Zemer, 1999-10-01 The Bible presents only a small portion of the laws necessary for a state to function Nevertheless whole tractates of the Talmud discuss a wide variety of legal issues both civil and criminal Although the jurisdiction of the beth din was limited in every land where Jews have lived the scholars felt that it was important to develop a system which dealt with every aspect of life Quite a few of the issues were discussed at a purely theoretical level But faced with specific problems in their respective communities the rabbinic scholars were forced to be practical and go beyond the traditional halakhah in order to protect the community This mixture of idealism and reality shape the later rabbinic discussions some elements of which have been incorporated into modern Israeli law but also shape modern Jewish thinking in the Diaspora This area of the halakhah has been rather neglected but this volume will no doubt stimulate further research Published in Association with the Solomon B Freehof Institute of Progressive Halakhah
