The Final Passage

Caryl Phillips

An elegant and haunting novel of Caribbean life — winner of the Malcolm X Award

"This small proud island, overburdened with vegetation and complacency, this had been her home. She looked, feeling sorry for those satisfied enough to stay. Then she stiffened, ashamed of what she had just thought."

As nineteen-year-old Laila looks out on her island home from the ship that will carry her, her husband, and baby to England, she contemplates the Caribbean life of the 1950s that is chaotic, hand-to-mouth, and offers no way but out. Caryl Phillips beautifully renders Laila's struggles to come to terms with life on her island home and her subsequent emigration to England and the hope of a better existence.

"Mr. Phillips writes so well. His cool descriptions are delightfully precise" —Sunday Telegraph

"The Final Passage marks the debut of a talented writer ... Philip writes a nicely elegant prose, has a sharply observant eye, and the effect is truthful, modest and convincing" —Guardian
