The Father Infant Relationship Observational Studies In The Family Setting:

The Father-infant Relationship Frank A. Pedersen, 1980 Interpersonal Relations: Family, Peers, Friends J. A. Meacham, 1987-07-10 Throwaway Dads Ross D. Parke, Armin A. Brott, 1999 Argues that the largely negative portrayal of fathers in mass media is both inaccurate and harmful and offer proposals for change Retrospect and Prospect in the Psychological Study of Families James P. McHale, Wendy S. Grolnick, 2001-10 This vol is designed to review the knowledge base of family psychologists from a broader perspective than that of specific research programs Intended readers include family psychologists as well as sociologists anthropologists clinicians and policymakers Handbook of Father Involvement Natasha J. Cabrera, Catherine S. Tamis-LeMonda, 2012-12-06 This book brings together experts from diverse scientific disciplines who share an interest in the topic of father involvement Unlike most books in the field which tend to solely draw from a psychological perspective this Handbook merges theories and research from the unique fields of psychology economics demography sociology anthropology and social policy For the most part research on fathering is motivated by concern for children's well being Social scientists share a core set of questions including Who are fathers What is father involvement and how does it affect children and families What are the determinants of father involvement How do cultural contexts shape fathers roles in families This Handbook sheds light on how a cross disciplinary approach to the study of fathering can advance knowledge about these fundamental questions This integrative approach is fundamental to a comprehensive understanding of human development generally and to fathering more specifically At the core of this book are the goals of describing and understanding the nature antecedents and consequences of father involvement across biological status family structure culture and stages in children's development both within and across scientific boundaries Each of the scientific disciplines represented offers unique methodological and theoretical approaches to the study of fathering and to the interpretation of behavioral patterns that characterize ecological systems that include as well as extend beyond family units Together the chapters offer provocative and challenging insight into the nature and meaning of fatherhood and father involvement by questioning longstanding assumptions about fathers roles in the lives of families and children in current history Multicultural Counseling with Teenage Fathers Mark S. Kiselica, 1995-08-03 An unplanned pregnancy in adolescence can be a crisis not only for young unmarried mothers but also for unmarried fathers of the same age group This landmark volume is the first in depth practical guide to counselling teenage fathers Taking a multicultural perspective the volume addresses issues that may have a bearing on a young man's adjustment to fatherhood such as his relationships with his parents his child the mother of his child her parents and his peers Advances in Child Development and Behavior, 1989-07-17 Advances in Child Development and Behavior The Development of Attachment and Affiliative Systems Robert Emde, 2013-04-18 The Development of Attachment and Affiliative Systems was selected as the topic for a three day workshop held at Estes Park Colorado in May 1980 The papers which resulted from this effort not only reflect a recent intensity of research in this area but also highlight a mounting need for asking questions across disciplines and for integrating theories. The sponsor of the workshop was the Developmental Psychobiology Research Group (DPRG) of the Department of Psychiatry, University of Colorado Medical School, a group which itself is interdisciplinary and which has met regularly since 1969 to criticize research, ask questions, and discuss findings. In 1974 the Group was awarded an endowment fund by the Grant Foundation after a request for a proposal initiated by Philip Sapir and Douglas Bond. The aims of this fund are to facilitate the research of young investigators, to encourage new research, and to provide seed money for collaborative ventures. Much of what is reported here results from that support. Thus happily not only are the contributions timely by virtue of converging on an important topic but they also commemorate more than five years of Grant Foundation support. Once the topic was chosen, a small number of guests were invited to participate. The papers of Timiras, Sackett, Konner, and Lamb represent differing perspectives from neurobiology, primatology, cultural anthropology, and social psychology.

Gender in Cross-Cultural Perspective Adrienne E. Strong, Richard Powis, 2024-08-19. This fully updated new edition of Gender in Cross Cultural Perspective carefully introduces and responds to changes in anthropological approaches to and perspectives on gender. With two new editors and new authors from the Global South and underrepresented communities, it combines theoretically and ethnographically based chapters to examine gender roles and ideology around the world. The book is divided thematically into five parts, with the editors opening each section with a succinct introduction to the principal issues. The book retains some of the classic chapters while offering new contributions and extended discussions throughout on methodology. It also has entirely new contributions that reflect more recent developments in the discipline, including more emphasis on LGBTQ communities, COVID, and migration. This new edition also features additional support for teaching and learning, including a film list and discussion questions that are now offered as supplemental online materials. The eighth edition of Gender in Cross Cultural Perspective continues to be an essential resource for undergraduate and graduate students encountering the anthropology of gender for the first time.

Families, Risk, and Competence Michael Lewis, Candice Feiring, 2014-04-04. The problems of studying families arise from the difficulty in studying systems where there are multiple elements interacting with each other and with the child. How should this system be described? Still, other problems relate to indirect effects, namely the influence of a particular dyad's interaction on the child when the child is not a member of the dyad. While all agree that the mother-father relationship has important bearing on the child's development, exactly how to study this, especially using observational techniques, remains a problem. While progress in studying the family has been slow, there is no question that an increase in interest in the family systems, as opposed to the mother-child relationship, is taking place. This has resulted in an increase in research on families and their effects. This volume, by leading figures in child development on families, attests to the growing sophistication of the conceptualization and measurement techniques for getting at family processes. The third in a series that aims to address topics relevant to the developmental problems and developmental disabilities of retardation this volume is divided into two parts Section 1 presents basic family processes and approaches for describing family dynamics It deals with these issues from a broad perspective including studying families at dinner families in different cultural contexts and the understanding of family in nonhuman primates Section 2 looks at family processes in the service of studying families at risk The risk factors include poverty malnutrition and developmental delay and retardation The study of family processes in these contexts provides data on family dynamics as well as how these dynamics impact on the children s developing competence This volume will be informative for researchers clinicians and educators from a variety of disciplines and settings The editors aim is to bring a greater clarity to issues concerning the family life of children and highlight new research and possibilities for intervention
