Nicolas Roeg, Film by Film Scott Salwolke,1993 Nicolas Roeg has directed some of the most original films of the past twenty years yet his work has remained relatively unknown Combining the styles of such famous British directors as Hitchcock Reed and Lester with innovations from the French New Wave his work is artfully distinctive Despite their initial lack of commercial appeal and pans by critics for their inaccessibility many of Roegs films have gained a large audience over time Performance and Bad Timing have become cult films Walkabout is a mainstay on college campuses and even among church groups Why Film by film details of Roegs dozen features are examined in an effort to better understand the man and his movies Films of Nicolas Roeg John Izod,1992 The Films of Nicolas Roeg John Izod,1992 Audiences respond to three things in the films of Nicholas Roeg The first is their extraordinary power the second their vivid style The third has to do with the fact that they present the viewer with puzzles often about people whom audiences half recognise but cannot immediately understand The author argues that all three elements are tied together with the power of the films springing from their source in ancient mysteries By adapting the methods of the psychoanalyst C G Jung he shows how Roeg reworks myth in order to reach into the unconscious of late 20th century humanity These new cinematic myths do more than reveal the motivation of Roeg s characters they so excite the desire for greater understanding that spectators become involved in a quest of their own and seek out improved self knowledge Fragile Geometry Joseph Lanza,1989 A survey of the work of the British filmmaker his vision of a decentered world depicted in such films as Don t Look Now The Man Who Fell to Earth and Walkabout Nicolas Roeg Neil Feineman,1978 Discusses films such as Performance Walkabout Don t look now The man who fell to earth and others The Eureka Complex Lesley Davis,1989 The World is Ever Changing Nicolas Roeg,2013-07-10 Nicolas Roeg is one of the most distinctive and influential film makers of his generation The generation of film makers who define contemporary movie making Danny Boyle Kevin Macdonald The Last King of Scotland Christopher Nolan The Dark Knight James Marsh Man on Wire and Guillermo Del Toro Pan s Labyrinth all acknowledge their debt to the work of Nicolas Roeg Roeg began as a cameraman working for such masters as Francois Truffaut and David Lean His explosive debut as a director with Performance established an approach to film making that was unconventional and ever changing creating works such as Don t Look Now The Man Who Fell to Earth Bad Timing Insignificance and more recently Puffball Having now reached eighty years of age Roeg has decided to pass on to the next generations the wealth of wisdom and experience he has garnered over fifty years of film making British films of the 1970s Paul Newland,2015-11-01 British films of the 1970s offers highly detailed and insightful critical analysis of a range of individual films of the period This analysis draws upon an innovative range of critical methodologies which place the film texts within a rich variety of historical contexts The book sets out to examine British films of the 1970s in order to get a clearer understanding of two things the fragmentary state of the filmmaking culture of the period and the fragmentary nature of the nation that these films represent It argues that there is no singular narrative to be drawn about British filmmaking in the 1970s other than the fact that these films offer evidence of a Britain and ideas of Britishness characterised by vicissitudes While this was a period of struggle and instability it was also a period of openings of experiment and of new ideas Newland looks at many films including Carry On Girls O Lucky Man That'll be the Day The Shout and The Long Good Friday
