Stirling Heads:

The Stirling Heads John G. Dunbar, Royal Commission on the Ancient and Historical Monuments and Constructions of Scotland, 1975 Princelie Majestie Andrea Thomas, 2005-08-10 The lifestyle of a Renaissance prince and his court was a work of art in itself a dazzling spectacle which propagated the power dignity and fame of the monarch The domestic routine of the royal household with its palatial surroundings restless itinerary and occasional public pageants provided the framework for cultural activity in its widest possible sense Fine art architecture scholarship literature music and piety jostled for attention alongside hunting feasting jousting politics diplomacy and war Emerging defiantly from a long and turbulent minority the adult James V managed to create for Scotland an exuberant and cosmopolitan court which imitated in miniature those of France England and the Netherlands and which carried important political messages His ambitious programme of royal patronage combined humanist scholarship neo classical and imperial imagery the cult of chivalry and medieval traditions in a blend which sought to galvanise Scottish national identity and enhance the status of the House of Stewart For many years the reputation of James V has been overshadowed by the tragic glamour of his father James IV killed at Flodden and his daughter Mary Queen of Scots Princelie Majestie reveals that he was an energetic and innovative patron who in a brief fourteen years created a court culture of remarkable quality and diversity Princelie Majestie was originally published by Tuckwell Press Heritage and Identity J.M. Fladmark, Thor Heyerdahl, 2015-11-17 Was the shaping of nation states in Northern Europe governed by military might or by Christian and democratic ideals How has trade and cross cultural exchange between Scandinavia and the British Isles shaped our historic identities and what about the impact of global politics and marketing in recent times These are some of the questions explored by the contributors in the context of forces that shape national identities today Their analysis highlights the need for historical awareness when developing future cultural policy brand profiles and marketing strategies Looking back Jesse Byock tells how democracy was first embraced in the north by the early settlers of Iceland Bjorn Myhre delves into the unpredictability of historical interpretation Edward Cowan discusses the role of battles and beddings in relations across the North Sea John Purkis writes about William Morris fascination with Nordic culture Stephen Harrison presents the winning ways of product development and marketing by Manx National Heritage whilst Chris Powell looks at Cool Britannia today and Simon Anholt at national branding strategies This is an inspirational book that sheds new light on old subjects equally relevant for both public and private sector policy makers alike Catalogue of Antiquities, Works of Art, and Historical Scottish Relics Exhibited in the Museum of the Archaeological Institute ...
