Rainer Maria Rilke, 1893-1908: Poetry as Process - A Poetics of Becoming Ben Hutchinson, 2017-12-02 Rainer Maria Rilke's early verse is often seen as having little relevance to the great achievement of the middle years the Neue Gedichte. Yet the very different styles of the juvenilia and this new maturity are united by a preoccupation with processes of motion and growth which governs both his life and work. In this meticulous philological study Ben Hutchinson reassesses every level of Rilke's early poetry from its motives and metaphors to its very grammar and syntax in order to trace what he terms a poetics of becoming. With careful attention to rhythm, resonance and linguistic detail he illuminates both the hidden patterns of the poetry and the artistic context of the fin de siècle. From its roots in the intellectual climate of the 1890s to the poems inspired by Rodin in 1908 Rilke's stylistic development is set against the surprising consistency with which he pursues this poetics of becoming.

Flint on a Bright Stone Kirsten Blythe Painter, 2006 Flint on a Bright Stone closes a significant gap in the history of Modernist poetry by identifying the existence of Tempered Modernism, an international phenomenon exemplified by Akhmatova, Rilke, H.D. and Williams and characterized by small poems written with precision, restraint, simplicity, equilibrium and hardness.

Musical Ekphrasis in Rilke's Marien-Leben Siglind Bruhn, 2000 In 1923 the twenty-seven year old Paul Hindemith published a composition for voice and piano entitled Das Marienleben based on Rainer Maria Rilke's poetic cycle of 1912. Twenty-five years later the composer presented a thoroughly revised, partially rewritten version. The outcome of this revision has been highly controversial. Ever since its first publication musicologists have argued for or against the value of such a decisive rewriting. They do so both by comparing the two compositions on purely musical grounds and by attempting to assess whether the more strictly organized tonal layout and dynamic structuring of Marienleben II is more or less appropriate for the topic of a poetic cycle on the Life of Mary. This study is the first to analyze the messages conveyed in the two versions with an emphasis on their implicit aesthetic, philosophical and spiritual significance. Acknowledging the compositions as examples of musical ekphrasis, a representation in one artistic medium of a message originally composed in another medium, the author argues in exhaustive detail that the young Hindemith of 1922-23 and the mature composer of 1941-48 can be seen as setting two somewhat different poetic cycles. This volume is of interest for musicologists and music lovers, scholars of German literature and lovers of Rilke's poetry as well as for readers interested in the interartistic relationships of music and literature.
