introduction to Stonehenge and its landscape and an introduction to archaeoastronomy the study of how ancient peoples understood phenomena in the sky and what role the sky played in their cultures Archaeoastronomy is a specialism critical to explaining the relationship of Stonehenge and nearby monuments to the heavens but interpreting archaeoastronomical evidence has often proved highly controversial in the past Stonehenge Sighting the Sun explains why It makes clear which ideas about Stonehenge are generally accepted and which are not with clear graphics to explain complicated concepts This beautifully illustrated book shines new light on this most famous of ancient monuments and is the first in depth study of this fascinating topic suitable both for specialists and for anyone with a general interest The volume includes a Foreword by British archaeologist and academic Professor Sir Barry Cunliffe

Cultural Heritage in Transit Deborah Kapchan,2014-05-21 Are human rights universal The immediate response is yes of course However that simple affirmation assumes agreement about definitions of the human as well as what a human is entitled to under law bringing us quickly to concepts such as freedom property and the inalienability of both The assumption that we all mean the same things by these terms carries much political import especially given that different communities national ethnic religious gendered enact some of the most basic categories of human experience self home freedom sovereignty differently But whereas legal definitions often seek to eliminate ambiguity in order to define and protect the rights of humanity ambiguity is in fact inherently human especially in performances of heritage where the rights to sense to imagine and to claim cultural identities that resist circumscription are at play Cultural Heritage in Transit examines the intangibilities of human rights in the realm of heritage production focusing not only on the ephemeral culture of those who perform it but also on the ambiguities present in the idea of cultural property in general who claims it who may use it who should not but does In this volume folklorists ethnologists and anthropologists analyze the practice and performance of culture in particular contexts including Roma wedding music Trinidadian wining Moroccan verbal art and Neopagan rituals in order to draw apart the social political and aesthetic materialities of heritage production including inequities and hierarchies that did not exist before The authors collectively craft theoretical frameworks to make sense of the ways the rights of nations interact with the rights of individuals and communities when the public value of artistic creations is constituted through international law Contributors Valdimar Tr Hafstein Deborah Kapchan Barbro Klein Sabina Magliocco Dorothy Noyes Philip W Scher Carol Silverman
