Metaphors, Narratives, Emotions Stefán Snævarr, 2010 This book argues that there is a complex logical and epistemological interplay between the concepts of metaphor narrative and emotions They share a number of important similarities and connections In the first place all three are constituted by aspect seeing the seeing as or perception of Gestalts Secondly all three are meaning endowing devices helping us to furnish our world with meaning Thirdly the threesome constitutes a trinity Emotions have both a narrative and metaphoric structure and we can analyse the concepts of metaphors and narratives partly in each other's terms Further the concept of narratives can partly be analysed in the terms of emotions And if emotions have both a narrative structure and a metaphoric one then the concept of emotions must to some extent be analysable through the concepts of narratives and metaphors But there is more Metaphors especially poetic ones are important tools for the understanding of the tacit sides of emotions perhaps because of the metaphoric structure of emotions The notion that narrations can be tools for understanding emotions follows from two facts narrations are devices for explanation and emotions have a narrative structure Fourthly the threesome has an impact on our rationality It has become commonplace to say that emotions have a cognitive content that narratives have an explanatory function and that metaphors can perform cognitive functions This book is the first attempt to articulate the implications that these new ways of seeing the three concepts entail for our concept of reason The cognitive roles of the threesome suggest a richer notion of rationality than has traditionally been held a rationality enlivened with metaphoric narrative and emotive qualities Stefan Snævarr Reykjavik 1953 studied philosophy and related subjects in Norway and Germany Professor at Lillehammer University College in Norway he is the author of several books of various kind in English Norwegian and Icelandic
