City That Remembers grew out of a series of articles and photographs published in the Albuquerque Tribune in 1998 and 1999 This expanded and updated collection revisits Albuquerque nearly twenty years after the original articles were written It juxtaposes historic and contemporary photographs of Albuquerque to show diverse moments in the city's history and development The authors ardent defenders of the vitality of Albuquerque's past contend that the city is still small enough to be in touch with its history and argue that what makes Albuquerque a great place is the continued presence of its strong traditions They further believe that preserving Albuquerque's natural and cultural heritage is critical to the city's future Throughout both express a deep understanding for this complicated beautiful and often misunderstood place Emerald Bay and Desolation Wilderness Peter J. Goin, 2018 Emerald Bay sparkles as a diamond within the jeweled landscape known as Lake Tahoe Designated a California State Park in 1953 and a National Natural Landmark in 1968 Emerald Bay is one of the most photographed landscapes in the Sierra featuring California's first underwater park dramatic Eagle Falls and Lake Tahoe's only boat in camp Vikingsholm nestled within the southwestern edge of the bay is a 38 room mansion that is a dramatic example of historic Scandinavian architecture A small stone teahouse steeped in fanciful lore is perched atop Emerald Bay's Fannette Island The Desolation Wilderness established in 1969 is one of the most popular wilderness designated areas in the United States The geographic area of the wilderness is just less than 100 square miles includes 130 lakes scattered throughout the alpine topography and contains countless waterfalls and streams intersecting the hiking trails and granite landscapes Lake Tahoe Watershed Assessment: Untitled, 2000 On the Road Again William

Wyckoff, 2011-10-17 In On the Road Again William Wyckoff explores Montana's changing physical and cultural landscape by pairing photographs taken by state highway engineers in the 1920s and 1930s with photographs taken at the same sites today The older photographs preserved in the archives of the Montana Historical Society were intended to document the expenditure of federal highway funds Because it is nearly impossible to photograph a road without also photographing the landscape through which that road passes these images contain a wealth of information about the state's environment during the early decades of the twentieth century To highlight landscape changes and continuities over more than eighty years Wyckoff chose fifty eight documented locations and traveled to each to photograph the exact same view The pairs of old and new photos and accompanying interpretive essays presented here tell a vivid story of physical cultural and economic change Wyckoff has grouped his selections to cover a fairly even mix of views from the eastern and western parts of the state including a wide assortment of land use settings and rural and urban landscapes The photo pairs are organized in thirteen visual themes such as forested areas open spaces and sacred spaces which parallel landscape change across the entire American West A close thoughtful look at these photographs reveals how crops fences trees and houses shape the everyday landscape both in the first quarter of the twentieth century and in the present The photographs offer an intimate view into Montana into how Montana has changed in the past eighty years and how it may continue to change in the twenty first century This is a book that will captivate readers who have or hope to have a tie to the Montana countryside whether as resident or visitor Regional and agricultural historians geographers and geologists and rural and urban planners will all find it fascinating
