Stories To Tell Our Children:

Fight Like a Man and Other Stories We Tell Our Children Christine Granados, 2017-03 Like her characters Christine Granados is not afraid to step up and in It doesn't matter who what man or woman Chicano or Chicana she's fighting to win Dagoberto Gilb author of Before the End After the Beginning Stories Betwixt & Between Louise Carus Mahdi, Steven Foster, Meredith Little, 1987 Betwixt and Between offers new insights into the basic elements of initiations and rites of passage The absence of these traditional supports creates problems in the lives of those who are caught in the void and lack definite expectations at various times of their lives The chapters on masculine and feminine initiation provide new and creative concepts and practical possibilities for each of us Initiation has been a missing component in the modern world and needs to be re-introduced with new understanding and consciousness Telling Our Stories Donna Y. Ford, 2017-04-01 Five decades ago I was challenged to read the Moynihan Report 1965 Then and now I take issue with much of the content which smacks of deficit thinking blaming the victim and a blindness or almost total disregard for how systemic racism and social injustices contribute to family structures I recall being professionally and personally offended by interpretations of single parent families which were often negative and hopeless Moral development criminal activity poor educational outcomes poverty and apathy of many kinds were placed squarely on the shoulders of these families especially if the families were headed by Black mothers Eurocentric and middle class notions of real families like those depicted on TV shows and movies dominate then and now what is deemed healthy in terms of family structures with the polemic conclusion that nuclear families are the best and sometimes only structure in which children must be raised These colorblind economic blind and racist blind studies reports theories and folktales have failed to do justice to the families in which there is one caregiver Their stories of woe and mayhem make the news and guide policies and procedures The stories of children who have been resilient have been unheard and silenced they have been under-reported and relegated to the status of exception to the rule Perhaps they are exceptions but there are more exceptions than we may know This book is designed with those stories of resilience and success in mind The book is not an attempt to glorify single parent families but such families are prevalent and increasing High divorce rates are impactful And some parents have chosen to not marry which is their right While not glorifying single parent families we are also not demonizing them or telling their stories void of context Yes income will often be lower time will be compromised when divided between offspring work and other obligations Likewise we are not glorifying two parent families as being ideal their context matters too How healthy are married couples who don't really love or even like each other How healthy are those parents who have separate sleeping arrangements bedrooms How healthy are those families who have oppositional parenting styles and goals for their children This is the 50th anniversary of the Moynihan Report and I am concerned that another 50 years will pass that fails to balance out the stories of single parent families mainly those whose children succeed and defy the odds so often unexpected of them I agree with Cohen co-author of the updated report The preoccupation with strengthening marriage as the best route to reducing poverty and inequality has been a policymaking folly Further 50 years after Moynihan released the controversial report The Negro Family The Case for National Action a new brief by the Institute for Women s Policy Research IWPR and the Council on Contemporary Families CCF titled Moynihan s Half Century Have We Gone to Hell in a Hand Basket finds that the changes in family structure that concerned him have indeed continued becoming widespread among Whites as well but that they do not explain recent trends in poverty and inequality In fact a number of the social ills Moynihan assumed would accompany these changes in family structure such as rising rates of poverty school failure crime and violence have instead decreased see this

Secularism and the Pursuit of Transcendence, Volume II Stanley E. Porter, Wendy J. Porter, 2025-02-19 We live in a secular age or so we have been told Nevertheless the Christian church strongly believes that we still experience and in fact are surrounded by acts of transcendence encounters with God that often defy imagination and explanation And yet we do try to explain such phenomena whether theologically experientially biblically historically philosophically literarily or even or especially artistically These two volumes are more than just papers from a major conference on secularism and the pursuit of transcendence held at McMaster Divinity College in Hamilton Ontario They contain genuine attempts by people deeply engaged with their secular surroundings to explain what we mean by transcendence Transcendence has been a longstanding topic among the best thinkers of this and previous ages and the same is true for these volumes which include contributions by Charles Taylor Robert Wuthnow Merold Westphal and Christina Gschwandtner but also by a wide range of others who address the question from divergent vantage points The responses vary as much as the orientations of those involved in the pursuit of defining not only what it means to live in our secular age but to be involved in the pursuit of transcendence or even to perceive the Transcendent s pursuit of us

Decolonizing the Lens of Power Kerstin Knopf, 2008 This is the first book that comprehensively examines Indigenous filmmaking in North America as it analyzes in detail a variety of representative films by Canadian and US American Indigenous filmmakers two films that contextualize the oral tradition three short films and four dramatic films The book explores how members of colonized groups use the medium of film as a means for cultural and political expression and thus enter the dominant colonial film discourse and create an answering discourse The theoretical framework is developed as an interdisciplinary approach combining postcolonialism Indigenous studies and film studies As Indigenous people are gradually taking control over the imagemaking process in the area of film and video they cease being studied and described objects and become subjects who create self controlled images of Indigenous cultures The book explores the translatability of Indigenous oral tradition into film touching upon the changes the cultural knowledge is subject to in this process including statements of Indigenous filmmakers on this issue It also asks whether or not there is a definite Indigenous film practice and whether filmmakers tend to dissociate their work from dominant classical filmmaking adapt to it or create new film forms and styles through converging classical film conventions and their conscious violation This approach presupposes that Indigenous filmmakers are constantly in some state of reaction to Western ethnographic filmmaking and to classical narrative filmmaking and its epitome the Hollywood narrative cinema The films analyzed are The Road Allowance People by Maria Campbell Itam Hakim Hopiit by Victor Masayesva Talker by Lloyd Martell Tenacity and Smoke Signals by Chris Eyre Overweight With Crooked Teeth and Honey Moccasin by Shelley Niro Big Bear by Gil Cardinal and Atanarjuat The Fast Runner by Zacharias Kunuk

Inventing the Child Joseph L. Zornado, 2021-11-18 This book traces the historical roots of Western culture's stories of childhood in which the child is subjugated to the adult Going back 400 years it looks again at Hamlet fairy tales of the Brothers Grimm and Walt Disney cartoons Inventing the Child is a highly entertaining humorous and at times acerbic account of what it means to be a child and a parent in America at the dawn of the new millennium John Zornado explores the history and development of the concept of childhood starting with the works of Calvin Freud and Rousseau and culminating with the modern consumer childhood of Dr Spock and television The volume discusses major media depictions of childhood and examines the ways in which parents use different forms of media to swaddle educate and entertain their children Zornado argues that the stories we tell our children contain the ideologies of the dominant culture which more often than not promote happiness at all costs materialism as the way to happiness and above all obedience to the dominant order
