Subcommittee on Science, Research, and Development,1970 Proceedings of the Symposium ,1964 An Ocean in Common Gary E. Weir,2001 Through two victorious world conflicts and a Cold War the U.S. Navy and American ocean scientists drew ever closer converting an early marriage of necessity into a relationship of astonishing achievement Beginning in 1919 Gary Weir's An Ocean in Common traces the first forty two years of their joint quest to understand each other and the deep ocean Early in the twentieth century American naval officers questioned the tactical and strategic significance of applied ocean science demonstrating the gap between this kind of knowledge and that deemed critical to naval warfare At the same time scientists studying the ocean labored in their inadequately funded discreet disciplines seemingly content to keep naval warfare at arm's length German U boat success in World War I changed these views fundamentally bringing ocean science insights to an increasing number of naval objectives Driven primarily by anti submarine priorities the physics chemistry and geology of the ocean more than its biology became the early focus of American ocean studies The World War II experience solidified the Navy's relationship with ocean scientists and the years after 1945 found the American military investing heavily in both applied and basic research Today oceanography is a permanent resident on the bridge of American fighting ships and the Navy continues to provide much of the impetus and funding for fundamental research in both naval and civilian laboratories In An Ocean in Common

Gary Weir focuses on the compelling motives and carefully engineered course that brought scientists and naval officers together across a considerable cultural divide to achieve a more comprehensive understanding of one another and the world ocean Weir details how this alliance laid the powerful multidisciplinary foundation for long range ocean communication and surveillance modern submarine warfare deep submergence and the emergence of oceanography and ocean engineering as independent and vital fields of study Department of Defense Appropriations for Fiscal Year 1971 United States.

Congress. Senate. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on Department of Defense, 1970 A Book of Waves Stefan Helmreich, 2023-07-03 In A Book of Waves Stefan Helmreich examines ocean waves as forms of media that carry ecological geopolitical and climatological news about our planet Drawing on ethnographic work with oceanographers and coastal engineers in the Netherlands the United States Australia Japan and Bangladesh Helmreich details how scientists at sea and in the lab apprehend waves materiality through abstractions seeking to capture in technical language these avatars of nature at once periodic and irreversible wild and pacific ephemeral and eternal For researchers and their publics the meanings of waves also reflect visions of the ocean as an environmental infrastructure fundamental to trade travel warfare humanitarian rescue recreation and managing sea level rise Interleaving ethnographic chapters with reflections on waves in mythology surf culture feminist theory film Indigenous Pacific activisms Black Atlantic history cosmology and more

Helmreich demonstrates how waves mark out the wakes and breaks of social histories and futures Neptune's

Laboratory Antony Adler, 2019-11-19 An eyewitness to profound change affecting marine environments on the Newfoundland coast Antony Adler argues that the history of our relationship with the ocean lies as much in what we imagine as in what we discover We have long been fascinated with the oceans seeking to pierce the profundity of their depths In studying the history of marine science we also learn about ourselves Neptune's Laboratory explores the ways in which scientists politicians and the public have invoked ocean environments in imagining the fate of humanity and of the planet conjuring ideal world fantasies alongside fears of our species weakness and ultimate demise Oceans gained new prominence in the public imagination in the early nineteenth century as scientists plumbed the depths and marine fisheries were industrialized Concerns that fish stocks could be exhausted soon emerged In Europe these fears gave rise to internationalist aspirations as scientists sought to conduct research on an oceanwide scale and nations worked together to protect their fisheries The internationalist program for marine research waned during World War I only to be revived in the interwar period and again in the 1960s During the Cold War oceans were variously recast as battlefields post apocalyptic living spaces and utopian frontiers The ocean today has become a site of continuous observation and experiment as probes ride the ocean currents and autonomous and remotely operated vehicles peer into the abyss Embracing our fears fantasies and scientific investigations Antony Adler tells the story of our relationship with the seas Boys' Life, 1994-08 Boys' Life is the official youth magazine for the Boy Scouts of America Published since 1911 it contains a proven mix of news nature sports history
