A Heritage of Ruins William R. Chapman, 2013-07-31 The ancient ruins of Southeast Asia have long sparked curiosity and romance in the world's imagination They appear in accounts of nineteenth century French explorers as props for Indiana Jones adventures and more recently as the scene of Lady Lara Croft's fantastical battle with the forces of evil They have been featured in National Geographic magazine and serve as backdrops for popular television travel and reality shows Now William Chapman's expansive new study explores the varied roles these monumental remains have played in the histories of Southeast Asia's modern nations Based on more than fifteen years of travel research and visits to hundreds of ancient sites A Heritage of Ruins shows the close connection between ruins conservation and both colonialism and nation building It also demonstrates the profound impact of European derived ideas of historic and aesthetic significance on ancient ruins and how these continue to color the management and presentation of sites in Southeast Asia today Angkor Pagan Bagan Borobudur and Ayutthaya lie at the center of this cultural and architectural tour but less visited sites including Laos's stunning Vat Phu the small temple platforms of Malaysia's Lembah Bujang Valley the candi of the Dieng Plateau in Java and the ruins of Mingun in Burma and Wiang Kum Kam near Chiang Mai in northern Thailand are also discussed All share a relative isolation from modern urban centers of population sitting in park like settings serving as objects of tourism and as lynchpins for local and even national economies Chapman argues that these sites also remain important to surrounding residents both as a means of income and as continuing sources of spiritual meaning He examines the complexities of heritage efforts in the context of present day expectations by focusing on the roles of both outside and indigenous experts in conservation and management and on attempts by local populations to reclaim their patrimony and play a larger role in protection and interpretation Tracing the history of interventions aimed at halting time's decay Chapman provides a chronicle of conservation efforts over a century and a half highlighting the significant part foreign expertise has played in the region and the ways that national programs have in recent years begun to break from earlier models The book ends with suggestions for how Southeast Asian managers and officials might best protect their incomparable heritage of art and architecture and how this legacy might be preserved for future generations

Colonial Frames, Nationalist Histories Mrinalini Rajagopalan, 2024-12-15 In recent years there has been a growing debate on the various ways that architecture and urbanism have served the triad of colonialism nationalism and modernity Some have argued that newly decolonized nations sought to represent their modernity through the spaces and symbols of their new national capitals while other scholars have stressed that while the forms and processes of architectural modernization have no doubt served as aids to various nation building projects it is the specific role of individual agents such as planners architects an emerging twentieth century bourgeois citizen or colonial administrators in this national project that needs attention However many such explorations of this subject have so far taken the form of monographs that concentrate on one city thereby limiting the scope required to address the broader questions at hand By juxtaposing case studies from various colonial and postcolonial settings from around the world this edited volume provides a comprehensive and diachronic investigation of the ways in which architecture and urban space mediate the intersections of colonialism nationalism and modernity Examining such spaces as archaeological sites memorials new buildings or historic urban fabric the book questions certain established dichotomies such as that of the imperial center and the colonized periphery the colonial past and the postcolonial present or the isolation of the national or local from the global Besides offering unique historical perspectives on colonialism nationalism and modernity each case study also reassesses theories regarding memory and monumentalization the appropriation and deployment of tradition in the service of nationalism and the institutions of modernity A common thread throughout the essays in this volume is a focus on new loci of power that emerge either in collision with colonial power structures or in collaboration with or those that emerge in the wake of decolonization While the authors recognize the presence of a larger structure of colonial hegemony they also investigate those centers of power that emerge in the interstices of crevices of colonial power Interdisciplinary and theoretically innovative this book offers a global perspective on colonial and national landscapes rewrites the master creator narrative examines national landscapes as sites of contestation and views the globalization of processes such as archaeology beyond the boundaries of the national
