The Copenhagen gasworks (1840-1850) designed Ferdinand Meldorff

Town planning along Continental lines

The volume of new building construction work continued during the 1840's - notably since burning buildings on the "Old Town" - was and still is encompassed in the history of the City. There were several reasons behind this expansion. The most important of these was the growth of industrialisation which was accompanied by a rapidly increasing influx of people into the City. During this decade the population increased from 48,000 to 60,000, the largest increase in Copenhagen's history.

Room for growth

Because already the new town plan for the "Malmind" were approved, Lindbøgen's model boulevard system had provided the central part of the City with room to grow in. Everything was now ready for the rapid transformation which, in particular, was to characterise the old Langelinieboulevards area - from 1850 onwards called Christianshavn - where the first new boulevard were laid out. Along these, and in the inner part of the area and in districts such as north Nørre and Nørrebro, a great number of multi-family housing buildings were built during these few years. The new Building By-Law's and Building Ordinance's strictly regulated every width and length of buildings around a central urban street measurements with a focus of planned architecture in a rich neo-Renaissance style. The City authorities experienced that the approved plan was adapted when the actual construction work was in the hands of individual building contractors. The work was frequently of a purely speculative nature in order to achieve quick profits.

Stockholms Annual Rings A Glimpse Into The Development Of The City:

Stockholm's Annual Rings Magnus Andersson,1998 European Planning History in the 20th Century Max Welch Guerra,Abdellah Abarkan,María A. Castrillo Romón,Martin Pekár,2022-08-11 The history of Europe in the 20th century is closely tied to the history of urban planning Social and economic progress but also the brute treatment of people and nature throughout Europe were possible due to the use of urban planning and the other levels of spatial planning Thereby planning has constituted itself in Europe as an international subject Since its emergence through intense exchange but also competition despite country differences planning has developed as a European field of practice and scientific discipline Planning is here much more than the addition of individual histories however historiography has treated this history very selective regarding geography and content This book searches for an understanding of the historiography of planning in a European dimension Scholars from Eastern and Western Southern and Northern Europe address the issues of the public led production of city and the social functions of urban planning in capitalist and state socialist countries The examined examples include Poland and USSR Czech Republic and Slovakia UK Netherlands Germany France Portugal and Spain Italy and Sweden The book will be of interest to students and scholars for Urbanism Urban Town Planning Spatial Planning Spatial Politics Urban Development Urban Policies Planning History and European History of the 20th Century The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license Urban Life in Nordic Countries Heiko Droste,2023-12-18 Based on empirical studies this book investigates the particular urban history of the North from the 17th century until today in a comparative Northern perspective Urban Life in Nordic Countries is the result of a conference on Urbanity in the Periphery held in Stockholm on the occasion of the 100th anniversary of the Institute of Urban History at Stockholm University aimed at establishing the field of the urban history of the North and creating a network of urban historians of the North With a broad range of contributions from Sweden Finland Denmark Norway and Estonia the volume seeks to further discourse on the region within national and transnational lenses and to highlight possibilities for new cooperation among researchers Urban history is a transdisciplinary subject engaging not only historians but also ethnologists sociologists urban planners and cultural geographers and this book targets all scholars whose work requires a historical understanding of the Northern town European urban historians outside the region will also find this text valuable as one of the few studies to consider the urban history of the continent from a North centered viewpoint To Scale Eric J. Jenkins,2008 This powerful reference features one hundred famous urban plans all drawn to the same scale each accompanied by a one page summary of the site discussing its history design and lessons for future urban design Sitte, Hegemann and the Metropolis Charles Bohl,Jean-François Lejeune,2009-06-02 These essays from leading names in the field weave together the parallels and differences between the past and present of civic art Offering prospects for the first decades of the twenty first century the authors open up a broad international dialogue on civic art which relates historical practice to the contemporary meaning of civic art and its application to community building within today's multi cultural modern cities The volume brings together the rich perspectives on the thought practice and influence of leading figures from the great era of civic art that began in the nineteenth century and blossomed in the early twentieth century as documented in the works of Werner Hegemann and his contemporaries and considered fundamental to contemporary practice

Peaceful Path Stephen Ward, 2016-03-14 The title of this book is taken from Ebenezer Howard's visionary tract To morrow A Peaceful Path to Real Reform Published in 1898 as a manifesto for social reform via the creation of Garden Cities it proposed a new way of providing cheap and healthy homes workplaces and green spaces in balance in cohesive new communities underpinned by radical ideas about collective land ownership While Howard's vision had international impact in this book planning historian Stephen Ward largely honors the special place that Hertfordshire occupies on the peaceful path beginning with the development of Letchworth and Welwyn Garden Cities

Afro-Eurasia: Assessing Sustainability Ray C. Anderson, Louis Kotz, Stephen Morse, 2012-10-31 Afro Eurasia Assessing Sustainability focuses on the geographic area where humans originated and first began to make use of the natural world Earth's largest landmass stretching from Portugal in the west across the steppes of Russia and south across Africa to the Cape of Good Hope By examining the history of human expansion as well as 21st century pressures to address ecosystem damage across the region international scholars and regional experts weave sustainability into core curricular subjects The interdisciplinary coverage includes national and regional environmental histories as well as business and commerce migration educational institutions law and government and the lifestyles of diverse populations

Sprawling Places David Kolb, 2010-01-25 People often bemoan the spread of malls suburban strips subdivisions and other sprawling places in contemporary America But are these places as bad as critics claim In Sprawling Places David Kolb questions widely held assumptions about our built environments Kolb agrees there is a lot not to like about many contemporary places but to write them off simply as commodified nonplaces does not treat them critically Too often Kolb says aesthetic character and urban authenticity are the focus of critics when it is more important to understand a place's complexity and connectedness Kolb acknowledges that the places around us increasingly have banal exteriors yet they can be complex and can encourage their inhabitants to use them in multiple nonlinear ways Ultimately Kolb believes human activity within a place is what defines it Even our most idealized classical places he shows change over the course of history when subjected to new linkages and different flows of activity Engaging with the work of such writers and critics as Henri Lefebvre Manuel Castells Karsten Harries and Christian Norberg Schulz Kolb seeks to move discussions about sprawl away from the idea that we must choose between being rooted in the local Black Forest soil or wandering in directionless space By increasing our awareness of complexity and other issues Kolb hopes to broaden and deepen people's thinking about the contemporary built environment and to encourage better designs in the future

Planning the Twentieth-Century City

Stephen V. Ward,2002-04-03 This book reveals the complex interplay of planning ideas and practices between local national and international levels throughout this century The book moves from German zoning the aesthetics of grand urban and landscape design from France and the USA and the utopian English idea of the garden city through to the dynamism of the Asian tiger cities and the environmental ideology of the late 20th century It creates an international body of knowledge and expertise With case material from major cities in Western Europe North America Australia and Asia this book charts the changing centres of influence in planning and identifies the cities which will lead the way in the next century Amsterdam Human Capital Sako Musterd,Willem Salet,2025-10-01 The familiar shape of western cities is changing dramatically For long times the urban core was taken for granted as the focal point for international contacts and day to day activities in the region Currently the urban scope is transforming into multi centred forms at metropolitan scale The transition is not just a matter of spatial form it is reflecting social economic and cultural processes The question is what new identities may develop in such changing historical conditions of space and place This book is a first attempt to analyse the process of urban transformation in an integral way The focus is on the region of Amsterdam All contributions are written by senior researchers of the Amsterdam studycentre for the Metropolitan Environment AME AME is the interdisciplinary urban research institute of the Universiteit van Amsterdam As the urban research institute at the Universiteit van Amsterdam the Amsterdam studycentre for the Metropolitan Environment AME analyses the economic social and cultural aspects of this spatial transformation usually in international comparative research All contributions to this book are written by senior researchers of AME in an attempt to analyse in an integral way the present and future dilemmas out of the historical growth paths of this dynamic city

Lo sguardo lungimirante delle capitali. Saggi in onore di Francesca Bocchi Autori Vari,2015-04-22T00:00:00+02:00 Questo volume rende omaggio a Francesca Bocchi storica delle città medievali ma con aperture alle et precedenti e successive Il taglio cronologico dato a Lo sguardo lungimirante delle capitali quindi ampio come lo spazio geografico che abbraccia Non si tratta in senso stretto delle capitali di stati nazionali o regionali ma anche di città a capo di circoscrizioni territoriali più piccole su cui esse hanno svolto un ruolo dominante This volume renders homage to Francesca Bocchi historian not only of medieval cities but also of the cities preceding and following that epoch The chronological boundaries given to The far sighted gaze of capital cities is consequently deliberately broad and itself speaks to the expansive geographical space The concept of a capital city is not narrowly limited to national regional or state capitals but includes cities at the head of smaller territorial environs upon which they have developed a dominating role Vernacular Architecture Newsletter ,2000

Making Space Anna Westerståhl Stenport,2004 Urban Africa Abdou Maliqalim Simone,Abdelghani Abouhane,2005-05-17 Amidst emergent cultural formations in Dakar Addis Ababa Cape Town Kisangani Jos Zaria Cairo and Marakesh this collection focuses on diverse ways Africans negotiate novel spatial practices political economic processes and social relations that entangle place identity and power in urban sites While historically familiar patterns linking the country and city remain these sedimentations are reworked through the incessant remaking of virtual real and moral economies where African agency animates diverse urban formations African cities are made meaningful through the geographically uneven dynamics of globalization that articulate with locally specific histories cultural practices and political contingencies

Cumulated Index to the Books ,1999 Bibliographic Index ,1999 Urban Morphology ,1997 Histoire de l'Europe urbaine Jean-Luc Pinol,2003 Archis ,2000 Street Fights in Copenhagen Jason Henderson,Natalie Marie Gulsrud,2019-05-21 With 29 percent of all trips made by bicycle Copenhagen is considered a model of green transport This book considers the underlying political conditions that enabled cycling to appeal to such a wide range of citizens in Copenhagen and asks how this can be replicated elsewhere Despite Copenhagen s global reputation its success has been a result of a long political struggle and is far from completely secure Car use in Denmark is increasing including in Copenhagen s suburbs and new developments in Copenhagen include more parking for cars There is a political tension in Copenhagen over the spaces for cycling the car and public transit In considering examples of backlashes and conflicts over street space in Copenhagen this book argues that the kinds of debates happening in Copenhagen are very similar to the debates regularly occurring in cities throughout the world This makes Copenhagen more not less comparable to many cities around the world including cities in the United States This book will appeal to upper level undergraduates and graduates in urban geography city planning transportation environmental studies as well as transportation advocates urban policy makers and anyone concerned about climate change and looking to identify paths forward in their own cities and localities
