Bureaucrats, Planters, and Workers Susan Deans-Smith, 2010-07-05

Honorable Mention Bolton Memorial Prize Conference on Latin American History A government monopoly provides an excellent case study of state society relationships This is especially true of the tobacco monopoly in colonial Mexico whose revenues in the later half of the eighteenth century were second only to the silver tithe as the most valuable source of government income This comprehensive study of the tobacco monopoly illuminates many of the most important themes of eighteenth century Mexican social and economic history from issues of economic growth and the supply of agricultural credit to rural relations labor markets urban protest and urban workers class formation work discipline and late colonial political culture Drawing on exhaustive research of previously unused archival sources Susan Deans Smith examines a wide range of new questions Who were the bureaucrats who managed this colonial state enterprise and what policies did they adopt to develop it How profitable were the tobacco manufactories and how rational was their organization What impact did the reorganization of the tobacco trade have upon those people it affected most the tobacco planters and tobacco workers This research uncovers much that was not previously known about the Bourbon government's management of the tobacco monopoly and the problems and limitations it faced Deans Smith finds that there was as much continuity as change after the monopoly's establishment and that the popular response was characterized by accommodation as well as defiance and resistance She argues that the problems experienced by the monopoly at the beginning of the nineteenth century did not originate from any simmering entrenched opposition Rather an emphasis upon political stability and short term profits prevented any innovative reforms that might have improved the monopoly's long term performance and productivity. With detailed quantitative data and rare material on the urban working poor of colonial Mexico, Bureaucrats, Planters and Workers will be important reading for all students of social economic and labor history, especially of Mexico and Latin America.

Illustrated official journal (patents), 1929 Kretek Capitalism Marina Welker, 2024-04-09. Indonesia is the world's second largest cigarette market: two out of three men smoke and clove-laced tobacco cigarettes called kretek make up 95 percent of the market. To account for the staggering success of this lethal industry, Kretek Capitalism moves beyond a focus on the addictive hold of nicotine to examine how kretek manufacturers have adopted global tobacco technologies and enlisted Indonesians to labor on their behalf in fields and factories, at retail outlets and social gatherings, and online. The book charts how Sampoerna, a Philip Morris International subsidiary, uses contracts, competitions, and gender, class, and age hierarchies to extract overtime, shift, seasonal, gig, and unpaid labor from workers, influencers, artists, students, retailers, and consumers. Critically engaging nationalist claims about the commodity's cultural heritage and the jobs it supports, Marina Welker shows how global capitalism has transformed both kretek and the labor required to make and promote it.
