Stories Of Women Gender And Narrative In The Postcolonial Nation:

Stories of Women Elleke Boehmer, 2005 Elleke Boehmer's work on the crucial intersections between independence nationalism and gender has already proved canonical in the field. Stories of Women combines her keynote essays on the mother figure and the postcolonial nation with incisive new work on male autobiography, daughter writers, the colonial body, the trauma of the post colony and the nation in a transnational context. Focusing on Africa as well as South Asia and sexuality as well as gender, Boehmer offers fine close readings of writers ranging from Achebe, Okri and Mandela to Arundhati Roy and Yvonne Vera, shaping these into a critical engagement with theorists of the nation such as Fredric Jameson and Partha Chatterjee. Moving beyond cynical deconstructions of the post colony, the book mounts a reassessment of the post colonial nation as a site of potential empowerment as a paradoxical refuge in a globalised world. It acts on its own impassioned argument that post colonial and nation state studies address substantively issues hitherto raised chiefly within international feminism.

Stories of Women Elleke Boehmer, 2005-09-03 This text combines Boehmer's keynote essays on the mother figure and the postcolonial nation with incisive new work on male autobiography, daughter writers, the colonial body, the trauma of the post colony and the nation in a transnational context.

A Womanist Reading of Hebrew Bible Narratives as the Politics of Belonging from an Outsider Within Vanessa Lovelace, 2024-05-29 The U.S. Declaration of Independence of 1776 decreed that all men were created equal and were endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights. Yet U.S. born free and enslaved Black people were not recognized as citizens with equal protections under the law until the passage of the Fourteenth Amendment. Even then, White supremacists impeded the equal rights of Black people as citizens due to their beliefs in the inferiority of Black people and that America was a nation for White people. White supremacists turned to biblical passages to lend divine justification for their views. A Womanist Reading of Hebrew Bible Narratives as the Politics of Belonging from an Outsider Within analyzes select biblical narratives including Noah's curse in Genesis 9, Sarah and Hagar in Genesis 16 and 21, Mother in Israel in Judges 5, and Jezebel, Phoenician Princess and Queen of Israel in 1 and 2 Kings. This analysis demonstrates how these narratives were first used by ancient biblical writers to include some and exclude others as members of the nation of Israel and then appropriated by White supremacists in the antebellum era and the early twentieth century to do the same in America. The book analyzes the simultaneously intersecting and interconnecting dynamics among race, gender, class, and sexuality and biblical narratives to construct boundaries between us versus them, particularly the politicization of motherhood to deny certain groups inclusion.

African Women Writers and the Politics of Gender Sadia Zulfiqar, 2016-09-23 This work examines the work of a group of African women writers who have emerged over the last forty years. While figures such as Chinua Achebe, Ben Okri, and Wole Soyinka are likely to be the chief focus of discussions of African writing, female authors have been at the forefront of fictional interrogations of identity formation and history. In the work of authors such as Mariama B. Senegal, Buchi Emecheta, Nigeria, Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie, Nigeria, Tsitsi

Dangarembga Zimbabwe and Leila Aboulela Sudan there is a clear attempt to subvert the tradition of male writing where the female characters are often relegated to the margins of the culture and confined to the domestic private sphere This body of work has already generated a significant number of critical responses including readings that draw on gender politics and colonialism but it is still very much a minor literature and most mainstream western feminism has not sufficiently processed it The purpose of this book is three fold First it draws together some of the most important and influential African women writers of the post war period and looks at their work separately and together in terms of a series of themes and issues including marriage family polygamy religion childhood and education Second it demonstrates how African literature produced by women writers is explicitly and polemically engaged with urgent political issues that have both local and global resonance the veil Islamophobia and a distinctively African brand of feminist critique Third it revisits Fredric Jameson s claim that all third world texts are national allegories and considers these novels by African women in relation to Jameson s claim arguing that their work has complicated Jameson s assumptions

Postsecular Poetics Rebekah Cumpsty, 2022-08-11 This book is the first full length study of the postsecular in African literatures Religion secularism and the intricate negotiations between the two codified in recent criticism as postsecularism are fundamental conditions of globalized modernity These concerns have been addressed in social science disciplines but they have largely been neglected in postcolonial and literary studies To remedy this oversight this monograph draws together four areas of study it brings debates in religious and postsecular studies to bear on African literatures and postcolonial studies The focus of this interdisciplinary study is to understand how postsecular negotiations manifest in postcolonial African settings and how they are represented and registered in fiction Through this focus this book reveals how African and African diasporic authors radically disrupt the epistemological and ontological modalities of globalized literary production often characterized as secular and imagine alternatives which incorporate the sacred into a postsecular world

Communities of Women in Assam Nandana Dutta, 2015-12-22 This book uses communities of women as a framework for reading women s experience rights and aspirations in Assam and Northeast India It explores the varying roles played by such communities in the formation of society the emergence of a women s public sphere and the representation of these communities in culture The essays in the volume study a host of women s communities including the Mahila Samiti Jain women s organisations Lekhika Sanstha lesbian communities religious gatherings scientific and environmental groups women s collaborations through cookbooks as well as nebulous communities of victims of persecution They examine how women s communities are both empowering and transformational but may paradoxically also be regressive and static Lucid analytical and rich with case studies this volume will be useful to scholars and researchers of gender studies sociology political science history and cultural studies particularly those interested in Northeast India

Global City Dilemmas and Anglophone Singapore Literature Angelia Poon, 2024-09-11 This book looks at culturally significant English language texts produced in Singapore in the last 20 years by writers such as Balli Kaur Jaswal Alfian Sa at Claire Tham Amanda Lee Koe Ng Yi Sheng and Kevin Kwan It provides an analysis sensitive to the writers socio political and cultural contexts and shows how Singapore s Anglophone literature successfully disrupts the government s narrative on transforming the island into a global city By asking difficult questions challenging hegemonic perspectives and exploring alternatives the writers interrogate the country s colonial history its post colonial Cold War development and the normalization of totalizing narratives Their texts also grapple with key aspects of contemporary Singapore society its official multiracialism forms of inequality distribution of privilege and gender and sexual politics By connecting these texts to developments in postcolonial literary criticism cosmopolitanism and globalization studies this book sheds light on the ideological and cultural forces at work in Singapore society today Reading Malaysian Literature in English Mohammad A. Quayum, 2021-11-18 This book brings together fourteen articles by prominent critics of Malaysian Anglophone literature from five different countries Australia Italy Malaysia Singapore and the US It investigates the thematic and stylistic trends in the literary products of selected writers of the tradition in the genres of drama fiction and poetry from its beginnings to the present focusing mainly on the postcolonial themes of ethnicity gender diaspora and nationalism which are central to the creativity and imagination of these writers The book explores the works of not just the established writers of the tradition but also those who have received little critical attention to date but who are equally gifted such as Adibah Amin Edward Dorall Rehaman Rashid and Huzir Suleiman The chapters collectively address the challenges and achievements of writers in the English language in a country where English is widely used in daily life and yet marginalised in the creative domain to elevate the status of writings in the national language i e Bahasa Malaysia The book will demonstrate that in spite of such recurrent neglect of the medium Malaysia has produced a number of outstanding writers in the language who are comparable in creativity and craftsmanship to writers of other Anglophone traditions The book will be of interest to readers and researchers of Malaysian literature postcolonial literatures minority literatures gender studies and Southeast Asian studies Postcolonial and Gender Perspectives in Irish Studies Marisol Morales Ladrón, 2007 This book represents an attempt to tackle questions related to fragmented and often conflicting ideologies within Irish studies Although a collective outcome with contributions in English and Spanish its unifying concern has been the appliance of postcolonial and gender perspectives to the analysis of Irish literature prose drama and verse and cinema as well as to the aesthetic production of both the Republic of Ireland and Northern Ireland Along the volume while some authors have chosen to delve into the broad theoretical debate concerning the position of Irish studies within postcolonial and feminist theories others offer detailed examinations of specific literary pieces and authors that fit in this panorama All in all the chapters are wide and diverse enough to trace a spatial and temporal map of the evolution of these paradigms within contemporary Irish studies North and South of the border National Identities in Pakistan Cara Cilano, 2014-06-03 In 1971 a war which took place in Pakistan that resulted in the establishment of two separate countries East Pakistan became

Bangladesh leaving the remaining four western provinces to comprise a truncated Pakistan This book examines how literature by those who remained Pakistanis acts as a cultural response to the threat the war posed to a nationalist identity It provides an analysis of the writing by Pakistani authors in their attempt to deal with the radical shock of the war and shows how fiction about the war helps readers imagine what the paring down of the country means for any abiding articulation of a Pakistani group identification The author discusses English and Urdu language fictions in the context of the historical debate about Pakistani nationalism including how such nationalism informs literary culture and in the contemporary interest in official apologies for the past The author organises the literary analysis around four key issues the domestic sphere and the family the territorial limits of citizenship multiculturalism class and nationalist history and diasporic imaginings of the nation These issues resonate across the fictions in both languages and the author's analysis of them traces how these works grapple with changing notions of what it means to be Pakistani after the civil war and offers an interesting discussion to studies in South Asia
