Peacebuilding with Women in Ukraine Maureen Flaherty, 2012-08-09 Twenty years post independence Ukraine remains split still floundering toward viable democracy Active participation in civic affairs required for democracy is unfamiliar for most Ukrainian citizens having internalized centuries of divisive oppression under a series of authoritarian regimes Democracy building and peace building require participant agency and voice rising out of oppression people often need support to speak about and transform their lived experiences Peacebuilding with Women in Ukraine Using Narrative to Envision a Common Future by Maureen P Flaherty explores the roles women's shared narrative dialogue and group visioning play in the support of personal empowerment and bridge building between diverse communities Despite participants initial beliefs that their regional counterparts shared little in common with them in the process of telling their personal life stories women were able to reflect upon their own values and strengths and with this rooting they were then able to reach out to others Rather than looking for differences participants sought ways to express a shared vision for an inclusive functional peace building future for themselves their families and Ukraine as a whole Peacebuilding with Women in Ukraine is a model for emancipatory social action and social change while the women's stories offer a window into the formative years and present day lives of eighteen women born and raised in the Soviet Union This study is a unique contribution to peace studies and to the history and building of a country that has most often had its history written for it

Television and the War in Ukraine Kaarle Nordenstreng, Aaron Hyzen, Hilde Van den Bulck, Svetlana Pasti, 2024-12-15 Focusing on the first two months after the Russian invasion of Ukraine on February 24 2022 this book presents quantitative and qualitative analyses of the main television news coverage of the war in 11 countries across the geopolitical spectrum Contributors discuss coverage by Russia's Vremya, Brazil's Globo, Jornal Nacional, India's DD News, China's CCTV News, South Africa's SABC News, Qatar's Al Jazeera, Finland's YLE News, UK's BBC News, Germany's ARD Tagesschau, Italy's RAI TG1 and US cable and broadcast network news. By selecting countries from across the geopolitical landscape and using a common methodological framework for a quantitative and qualitative analysis of the news in each country, contributors are able to draw clear comparisons and contrasts throughout the book. The analyses reveal both common and nation-specific themes and angles, demonstrating an unfettered relationship between news media and government and identifying geopolitical tensions and allegiances. Along with a substantive introduction, methodological framework, conclusion and reflective epilogue, the collective chapters in this book consider how these cases speak to perennial issues across the globe.

Christmas Stories from Ukraine Various, 2020-03-11 Christmas stories written by Ukrainian writers. They will take you to the wolves-infested forest through which little Vasylo gallops, trying to deliver a fir tree to the rich family and earn money to redeem his mother's boots from the shoemaker; to the snowed-up fields which little Marusya braves, wearing her mother's torn boots stuffed with straw, hurrying to the town to pawn her deceased father's clothing and buy medicine for her mother; on the Christmas eve to the rich living room to listen to stories told after the Christmas supper. With happy endings and sad, these stories perfectly capture the spirit of Ukrainian Christmas and its traditions. Frightened without a hat, covered in snow, Vasylo sped along the road towards the cold wind. Two wolves fled after him, arching their grey spines. And the blizzard howled, snowed and covered their tracks. So you will repent. So I will make your life even worse, servitude, and I will laugh at each of your tears and pulling me forcibly to himself, kissed my lips. Somewhere in the world, there is a little church, old, rotten, looking as if it was built from the shadows of the moon. In the church, there is a vestibule, sad, dark, and in it, between the broken cross and the old banner, there hangs an icon of the holy angel, covered in dust, faded. And lived in these parts a poor widow in a clay house, a woman true in the fear of God, observing, and she had a son called Ivashko. Ivashko was obedient and respectful, but he loved honey very much, because he was still young. And he so waited, so waited for that Christmas. I can not look at them. Their smell is disgusting to me, revolting. She bred weakling and died herself, leaving it for me to fuss over them, these stinks. Why? For what? Am I a hireling of hers? I'll be popping my own soon. The little young devil, who was let out for the holidays to play pranks, fell straight into the snowdrift from sheer happiness, buried himself in it wholly and did such a dance with his legs that the snow dust rose up and one could not see a thing. Then he jumped up and began to run around the field.

Healing Intergenerational Trauma in Ukraine Russia David Hoicka, 2024-08-09

In Healing Intergenerational Trauma in Ukraine Russia: Conflict Mediation for Peace, Prosperity and Happiness, David Hoicka, an award-winning mediator from neutral Singapore, explores the profound impact of intergenerational trauma on the ongoing conflict between Ukraine and Russia. Hoicka offers a compelling argument for the critical role of mediation in addressing the psychological and emotional wounds that fuel the conflict and hinder efforts to achieve lasting peace and prosperity. Mediation is a process where a skilled mediator facilitates dialogue between parties in conflict, assisting parties to creatively find options and alternatives to best satisfy their underlying interests given the reality of their circumstances and achieve peace, prosperity, and happiness. In this book, Hoicka analyzes how long-standing intergenerational trauma delays achieving peace in Ukraine and Russia and provides workable solutions. By applying mediation to the Ukraine-Russia conflict while intentionally addressing intergenerational trauma, we facilitate resolving both Ukraine's and Russia's underlying interests to achieve meaningful peace, economic growth, and happiness.

Understanding Intergenerational Trauma Hoicka begins by providing a comprehensive overview of the concept of intergenerational trauma, examining how the collective experiences of violence, oppression, and hardship can be passed down through generations, shaping the attitudes, beliefs, and behaviors of individuals and communities. He explores the ways in which the legacies of Soviet-era policies, the challenges of the post-Soviet transition, and the ongoing tensions around language, culture, and national identity have contributed to the deep-seated mistrust and animosity that characterize the Ukraine-Russia conflict. In the context of the ongoing conflict between Ukraine and Russia, the concept of intergenerational trauma has become increasingly relevant in understanding the deep-rooted psychological and emotional factors that contribute to the persistence of hostilities. As a mediator working towards fostering peace and reconciliation, it is crucial to recognize the role that intergenerational trauma plays in shaping the attitudes, beliefs, and behaviors of individuals and communities affected by the conflict.

The Power of Mediation With case studies and practical steps, Hoicka demonstrates the transformative potential of mediation in breaking cycles of trauma and conflict. He argues that by creating a safe and non-judgmental space for dialogue, fostering empathy, and understanding, and addressing the underlying psychological and emotional needs of all parties, mediation can help to build trust, promote healing, and rapprochement, and pave the way for sustainable peace and reconciliation.

A Path Forward Hoicka offers a compelling vision for the future of Ukraine-Russia relations, one that is grounded in the principles of inclusivity, dialogue, and mutual understanding. He provides concrete strategies and recommendations for policymakers, civil society leaders, and ordinary citizens to support mediation efforts and promote long-term peace and prosperity in the region.

An Essential Read Healing Intergenerational Trauma in Ukraine Russia: Mediation for Peace, Prosperity and Happiness is an essential read for anyone seeking to understand the complex dynamics of the Ukraine-Russia conflict and the role of mediation in promoting peace and reconciliation Written with great emotional depth clarity and accessibility this book is a must read for policymakers scholars practitioners and general readers alike who are committed to building a more just peaceful and prosperous world To ensure broad accessibility this book is priced affordably It is my sincere hope that by making this resource widely available it can have a meaningful positive impact If my book Healing Intergenerational Trauma in Ukraine Russia can save even one life or bring a measure of happiness to a single individual I will feel a deep sense of fulfillment and happiness myself I will be grateful to be able to make a difference through this work David Hoicka
