Dr. Justin G. Three Perspectives Steven H. Propp,2009-12 You're Jewish aren't you This blunt question is the way that college freshman Richard Cohn is introduced to an outspoken fellow student named Dov Epstein who calls himself a Messianic Jew and believes that God has a special purpose for the Jewish people in these Last Days Raised by secular Jewish parents Richard is completely oblivious to his own Jewish background until this ongoing dialogue forces him to confront his own heritage The two young men vigorously argue with each other over the interpretation of the Hebrew Bible particularly its reputed predictions of a Messiah Christian doctrines such as the Trinity and most significantly about the identity and significance of Jesus of Nazareth The rigorous process of self examination this initiates leads Richard to embrace his Jewish identity even as he vehemently denies the same for Dov The two ultimately become fast friends but as they progress from an academic environment to the professional world they are challenged by racist statements made by prominent national figures anti Semitic doctrines such as Christian Identity which teaches that white Anglo Saxons are the true Israel and also purported scholars who deny the reality of the Holocaust itself Circumstances in life connect them with a young Iranian migrant named Jahangir Khatami whose Muslim beliefs conflict strongly with their own Yet when a violent incident brings the three of them together they are forced to reexamine not just their differences but their similarities While they clash over the ideals of Zionism and its ramifications in the modern State of Israel they are united in their horror over the terrorist attacks of September 11 2001 Join a diverse cast of characters some of whom appeared in the author's earlier book Beyond Heaven and Earth in a probing exploration that may help you reconsider just what it means to be Jewish Christian or Muslim in the modern world Teaching German in Twentieth-century America David P. Benseler, Craig W. Nickisch, Cora Lee Nollendorfs, 2001 Teaching a foreign language and culture is always a challenge but it has been especially problematic to teach the German language and culture in the United States in the twentieth century The tradition of Germany's great poets and thinkers of the past has been joined by a starker legacy Through explorations of such topics as the world wars the Holocaust women in the language teaching profession Jewish contributions and technology's impact on scholarship this volume inspects the fascination and frustrating relationships of the two cultures as they interact through the teaching of German in American educational systems from small liberal arts colleges to large and famous universities This volume resulted from a conference Shaping Forces in American Germanics held in Madison Wisconsin in September 1996
