The House by the Sea May Sarton, 2014-07-22 The author and poet s graceful elegy about life love work and growing older The most moving and the most thoughtful of her journal memoirs The Plain Dealer Cleveland When May Sarton uprooted her life after fifteen years in the refurbished New Hampshire house with the garden she tended so lovingly she relied solely on instinct And something told her it was time to move on Accompanied by her wild cat Bramble and Tamas a Shetland shepherd puppy the first dog she ever owned Sarton embarked on the next chapter of her life The house she chose by the sea in the Maine village of York is completely isolated except during the summer months Surrounded by nothing but endless ocean woods and vast skies Sarton experiences a rare sense of peace She creates a new garden and fears that in this tranquil state she may never write again But in her solitude with its occasional interruptions for trips away and visits from friends she realizes that creativity is constantly renewing itself This journal offers fascinating insight into a remarkable woman and the work and friendships that form the twin pillars of her life This ebook features an extended biography of May Sarton

Today western nations consume annually only a small percentage of their resources from the sea despite the proclamation of Exclusive Economic Zones EEZ by many In contrast most Pacific Basin Countries obtain more than a quarter of their annual needs from the ocean Determination of greater rewards from the development of marine resources is markedly inhibited by the limited technical abilities available to locate and assess them Knowledge of Exclusive Economic Zone resources is schematic and generalised and a detailed understanding of the geology and processes relating to the economic use of the seafloor is both fragmentary and very basic Technology for mapping the mineral resources of continental shelves and ocean areas except in active offshore hydrocarbon provinces has been largely developed in pursuit of scientific objectives and competence to rapidly appraise economic potential is limited Similarly the capability to characterise and evaluate the other resources of the seas is rudimentary The development of ocean resources will become increasingly urgent as the growth of the world population and the depletion of land reserves combine to enhance demand Also increasing environmental constraints will limit the availability of traditional land based resources nevertheless new offshore development must proceed in a manner whereby the marine environment is not plundered but protected and conserved The challenge to develop ocean resources with responsible environmental stewardship will require greater leadership than the development of the technologies of exploitation      Toxic Substances Control Act United States.
