Part I features six systematic chapters that discuss literary, intellectual, socio-economic and political contexts, providing innovative approaches to issues such as sense and sentiment, gender considerations, formal characteristics, economic history, enlightened and radical concepts of citizenship and human rights, ecological ramifications and Britain's growing global involvement. These analyses engage the debates outlined in the systematic chapters, undertaking in-depth readings that both contextualize the works and draw on relevant criticism, literary theory and cultural perspectives. BrightSummaries.com Studies in the Victorian and Neo-Victorian Novel Adrian Radu, 2024-02-29 Readers of the nineteenth-century novel expected literature to be a form of journalism and fictional history. They wanted to read about easily identifiable situations with a chronological, straightforward and easily discernible development of plot, familiar backgrounds and credible characters. About a hundred years later, the Victorian novel became the great tradition, omnipresent and reliable. However, today the age and the context are different, and novels need more substance, including such themes as memory, race and empire, sex and science, spectrality and the heritage industry, or key issues like gender, sexuality and postmodernism. All these elements are considered Neo-Victorian, which, in spite of their novelty, do point to a certain Victorian anchor. This volume contains ten studies, the substance of which is the analysis of novels that, according to their date of publication, are products of the Victorian and Neo Victorian periods as defined above The authors investigate and discuss Victorian roots and characteristics preserved or recycled Victorian themes Neo Victorian characters and motifs or any other characteristics that may label them as Victorian or Neo Victorian products
