Lai, 2007-03-12 This book examines the Hong Kong media over a forty year period focusing in particular on how its newspapers and TV stations have struggled for press freedom under the colonial British administration as well as Chinese rule Making full use of newly declassified material extensive interviews and specific case studies it provides an illuminating analysis of the dynamics of political power and its relationship with media censorship Overall this book is an impressive discussion of the evolving face of the Hong Kong media and is an important contribution to theoretical debates on the relationship between political power economics identity and journalism      Contested Citizenship in East Asia Kyung-Sup Chang, Bryan Turner, 2012-03-22 Theories of citizenship from the West pre eminently those by T H Marshall provide only a limited insight into East Asian political history The Marshallian trajectory juridical political and social rights was not repeated in Asia and the late nineteenth century debate about liberalism and citizenship among intellectuals in Japan and China was eventually stifled by war colonialism and authoritarian governments both nationalist and communist Subsequent attempts to import western style democratic values and citizenship were to a large extent failures Social rights have rarely been systematically incorporated into the political ideology and administrative framework of ruling governments In reality the predominant concern of both the state elite and the ordinary citizens was economic development and a modicum of material well being rather than civil liberties The developmental state and its politics take precedence in the everyday political process of most East Asian societies These essays provide a systematic and comparative account of the tensions between rapid economic growth and citizenship and the ways in which those tensions are played out in civil society

CARROLL, John M Carroll, 2009-06-30 In Edge of Empires Carroll situates Hong Kong squarely within the framework of both Chinese and British colonial history while exploring larger questions about the meaning and implications of colonialism in modern history      Guangdong Yue-man Yeung, David K. Y. Chu, 1998 Guangdong capitalizing on its traditional role as China's gateway to the outside world and its proximity to Hong Kong and Macau has witnessed momentous and fundamental changes since 1978 The province has raced ahead in rapid economic development and physical transformation reaping the largest dividends in China's open policy and economic reforms So rapidly has Guangdong developed during the last decade that it has set for itself the target of becoming another little dragon of Asia This volume addresses the processes outcomes and meanings of the rapidity of physical and socioeconomic transformation in Guangdong across a wide spectrum of subjects Undertaken almost exclusively by academics in Hong Kong this book length study of Guangdong is a major contribution in our quest for a better understanding of China's modernization and development programmes through its multifaceted experimentation in the southerly province      Hong Kong's Reunion with China: The Global Dimensions Gerard A. Postiglione, James Tuck-Hong Tang, 2016-07-01 The issues surrounding Hong Kong's global position and international links grow increasingly complex by the day as the process of Hong Kong's transformation from a British colony to a Chinese Special Administration Region unfolds This volume addresses a number of questions relating to this process How international is Hong Kong What are its global and international dimensions How important are these dimensions to its continued success How will these dimensions change especially beyond the sphere of economics Is Hong Kong's internationalization defined in terms of its willingness to embrace international values and its capacity to maintain its international presence at risk These questions are presented as they pertain to the changing situation relations between mainland China Taiwan and Hong Kong the positions of Australia Canada and the United States on Hong Kong internalization of international legal values Americanization vs Asianization linkages to the world through Guangdong strategies to emigrate overseas cultural internationalization media internationalization and universities within the global economy

The Politics Of Democratization Edward Friedman, 2019-06-26 This collection explores democratic transitions in East Asia arguing against the standard wisdom that European or Christian value systems and socioeconomic forces are essential for democracy to succeed Instead the contributors convincingly illustrate that political institutions which can be built anywhere by skilled coalitions have the most profound and lasting influence on a stable democratic system Indeed the East Asian experience reveals truths about Western democratization that are obscured by popular Western mythologies This partnership of U S and Asian scholars has given us the first systematic effort to bring East Asia into the democratization debate in a way that compels one to rethink the politics of democratization everywhere The book therefore is a crucial contribution for all those interested in the broader issues of transition

The Chinese in Vancouver, 1945-80 Wing Chung Ng, 2011-11-01 In The Chinese in Vancouver Wing Chung Ng captures the fascinating story of the city's Chinese in their search for identity He juxtaposes the cultural positions of different generations of Chinese immigrants and their Canadian born descendants and unveils the ongoing struggle over the definition of being Chinese It is an engrossing story about cultural identity in the context of migration and settlement where the influence of the native land and the appeal of the host city continued to impinge on the consciousness of the ethnic Chinese The Chinese in Canada is long overdue in view of the many previous studies that tend to describe Chinese people as victims of racial prejudice and discrimination and Chinese identity a matter of Western cultural hegemony Ng's account gives the Chinese people their own voice and shows that the Chinese in Vancouver had much to say and often disagreed about the meaning of being Chinese In his concluding chapter Ng looks beyond the Canadian context by engaging in a comparative discussion of the experiences of ethnic Chinese elsewhere in the diaspora References to the Chinese in various Southeast Asian countries and the U S force a rethinking of Chineseness He ends with reflections about Vancouver's Chinese community since 1980

East Asian Business Systems in Evolutionary Perspective Fu-Lai Tony Yu, 2003 Economic studies on East Asia economies in general and Chinese economies are not lacking However most studies hitherto adopt the conventional neo classical economic approach In particular the Cobb Douglas production function and or theory of comparative advantage are often applied to explain economic growth of an Asian economy In international business Dunning's eclectic theory is also widely adopted to understand the pattern of foreign direct investments in East Asian economies Yet it is generally agreed that the mainstream neo classical approach has severe drawbacks and limitations In particular it does not consider the role of knowledge and uncertainty Entrepreneurship which is the true engine of growth is largely missing in neo classical economics This book uses the evolutionary approach to analyse economic and business activities in East Asian economies Specifically the book focuses on knowledge and coordination problems and examines the role of entrepreneurship in economic affairs      China's Developmental Miracle Alvin Y. So, 2016-07-08 In contrast to the failure to economic reforms in Eastern Europe China's economic reforms have been quite successful Decollectivization marketization state enterprise reforms and reintegration into the world economy have led to very rapid economic development in China over the past two decades These economic reforms in turn triggered profound social and political changes This collection examines the origins nature and impact as well as the future prospects of these reforms and changes The contributors are all active researchers from a variety of disciplines including economics sociology political science and geography      Making Capitalism in China You-tien Hsing, 1998 Making Capitalism in China The Taiwan Connection shows that small and medium sized Taiwanese investors are organized in production and marketing networks not vertically integrated conglomerates When in China they directly negotiate and establish partnerships with entrepreneurial local officials not the central bureaucracy Also they effectively transfer a capitalist ideology of production to Chinese factory workers Importantly the investors attribute their business successes in China to the cultural historical and linguistic affinities they share with these local agents Connections regarding socio cultural identity do more than facilitate business dealings or ease labor relations Hsing asserts that partnerships between mainland settlements and overseas Chinese investors constitute a local global coalition of economic reform one that strengthens local autonomy in China and bypasses the control of the central government This coalition is nothing short of a new pattern of foreign direct investment one profoundly influenced by both cultural boundaries usually deemed insignificant in matters of capital flow and globalization and local state agents who operate in this case as crucial business partners A notable work that will appeal to all students of East Asian economic organization ethnic business networks international investment and the political economy of socialist transition Hsing's book is based on hundreds of interviews and participatory observations that she conducted between 1991 and 1996 with investors local officials and factory workers in Taiwan Hong Kong Guangdong Fujian and Shanghai      Hong Kong's History Tak-Wing Ngo, 2002-09-11 Rewriting Hong Kong's history from the bottom up the chapters investigate vital but hitherto obscured aspects of the colony's rise They cover the Chinese collaboration with the colonial regime legal discrimination and intimidation rural politics social movements government business relations industrial policy flexible manufacturing and colonial historiography Drawing together contributions from historians sociologists and political scientists the book highlights the role played by a variety of social actors in Hong Kong's history and differs both from recent celebrations of British colonialism and anti colonial Chinese nationalism      Hong Kong's Reunion with China, 1997-01-01 As Hong Kong transforms from a colonial dependent territory to a Chinese special administrative region its international status will be increasingly connected to China's position in the world the nature of

Hong Kong global linkages are shifting as the po
