So You Want To Cut Down Your Drinking A Selfhelp Guide To Sensible Drinking:

Treating Addictive Behaviors William R. Miller, Nick Heather, 2013-06-29 About a decade ago psychologists began exploring the commonalities among alcohol and drug abuse smoking and obesity The term substance abuse evolved into the current concept of addictive behaviors which recognizes similarities with other behaviors that do not involve consummatory responses e.g. pathological gambling compulsions sexual deviations Professional societies and journals now have been founded in both Britain and the United States with the purpose of focusing on research and treatment in the area of addictive behaviors As the field has evolved new models have emerged to address the questions and puzzles that face professionals This volume examines some of these current issues and in particular explores common processes of change that seem to cut across the addictive behaviors The chapters are based on papers presented at the Third International Conference on Treatment of Addictive Behaviors which was held at North Berwick Scotland in August of 1984 The conference was organized around an integrative model of stages and processes of change that has been useful in organizing new knowledge about how to intervene with addictive behaviors This model is set forth by its authors Jim Prochaska and Carlo DiClemente in Chapter 1 In Chapter 2 Fred Kanfer expounds his own model of self regulation which overlaps nicely with the Prochaska DiClemente framework and provides a behavioral theoretical context

Alcohol

Education and Young Offenders Steve Baldwin, 2012-12-06 Since the establishment of the first alcohol education course ABC for young offenders in 1981 this form of service delivery has been expanded across the United Kingdom. While some before and after data have been reported no controlled evaluations have been completed on effectiveness with this type of intervention. The present research reports a series of evaluation studies to investigate the impact of ABCs on offending and drinking behavior. Young offenders were recruited from local courts. The first study completed in Dundee reported results from a comparative evaluation between two types of ABCs. As an attention placebo study one group received a behavioral ABC with program contents designed to reduce drinking and offending behaviors. Some dependent variable differences between the two groups were observed at follow up. The second study was established in Glasgow as a replication of the main study. The third study used a quasi experimental design to establish a no intervention control group in the Perth courts. Young offenders were recruited to complete screening interviews without any intervention. The intervention group was recruited from courts in Forfar, a similar rural town. This group completed an information based ABC using educational materials about alcohol and its effects. Some dependent variable differences were observed at follow up. The fourth study was based in a Young Offender Institution at Forfar. Prerelease young offenders were randomly assigned to either a no intervention control group or a behavioral ABC group. Some dependent variable differences were reported at follow up. Health Promotion

Kevin Lucas, Barbara Lloyd, 2005-10-03 The authors offer a reappraisal of health promotion activity examining evidence for what actually works highlighting issues for improving efficacy.
