Social Change In A Metropolitan Community:

Social Change and Politics Morris Janowitz, 2017-07-05 This classic study deals with social control in advanced industrial society especially the United States and particularly the half century after World War I The United States is representative of Western advanced industrial nations that have been faced with marked strain in their political institutions These nation states have been experiencing a decline in popular confidence and distrust of the political process an absence of decisive legislative majorities and an increased inability to govern effectively that is to balance and to contain competing interest group demands and resolve political conflicts Janowitz uses the sociological idea of social control to explore the sources of these political dilemmas Social control does not imply coercion or the repression of the individual by societal institutions Social control is rather the face of coercive control It refers to the capacity of a social group including a whole society to regulate itself Self regulation implies a set of higher moral principles beyond those of self interest Since the end of World War II the expanded scope of empirical research has profoundly transformed the sociological discipline The repeated efforts to achieve a theoretical reformulation have left a positive residue but there have been no new conceptual breakthroughs that are compelling This book is a concerted and detailed effort organize and to make sense out of the vastly increased body of empirical research

The Metropolitan Community Cynthia Taines, 2025-06-30 In metropolitan areas across the United States city and suburban public school students receive grossly unequal funding Since funding is critical to student success this means the primarily Black Latinx and low income students attending city schools are being denied an equal education So entrenched is this system that it can feel normal or too big to undo Yet recent student activism in the form of an innovative cross community school partnership offers new hope The Metropolitan Community Partnering for Equality Across the Educational Divide tells the story of two Chicago area schools one suburban one urban whose students come together to examine the disparities between their schools and advocate for change It follows these students over a year as they meet tour each other s schools wrestle with how to discuss unfairness and ultimately commit to fighting together for a more equal education In depth interviews and detailed observations chronicle the students advocacy which unfolds in conversation with teachers and administrators and eventually brings them to the table with legislators from whom they demand better policies Through the examples set by students readers are invited to develop their own metro outlook to see how our seemingly separate worlds are connected by the educational system we hold in common and must work together to reshape The first book to depict sustained allyship between city and suburban students The Metropolitan Community offers an invigorating pedagogical approach organizational model and political strategy for achieving educational justice through youth led partnerships and collaboration Perfect for courses such as School and Society Curriculum and Instruction Diversity and Equity in Education Socio cultural Foundations Educational Policy Culturally Relevant Pedagogy Sociology of Education Urban Education Social Studies Methods Multicultural Education Anthropology of Education School Counseling School

Psychology and School Social Work The Quality of American Life Angus Campbell, Philip E. Converse, Willard L. Rodgers, 1976-03-25 Considers how Americans define the quality of their life experiences as expressed in their perceptions evaluations and satisfactions Based on research conducted by the Institute for Social Research at the University of Michigan the book uses data which are representative of the national population eighteen years of age and older and employs the major social characteristics of class age education and income The authors cover such topics as the residential environment the experience of work marriage and family life and personal resources and competence They also report on the situation of women and the quality of the life experience of black people Social Indicator Models Kenneth C. Land, Seymour Spilerman, 1975-02-14 Deals in comprehensive fashion with a diverse array of objective and subjective social indicators and shows how these indicators can be used potentially to inform and perhaps guide social policy Written with clarity and authority it will be of paramount interest to those concerned with the interpretation and analysis of social indicators and to those interested in their use For the former it serves as an illuminating introduction to some of the analytical tasks that lie ahead in the study of social indicators For the latter it provides a solid foundation upon which future policy analysis may be based Social Change in a Metropolitan Community Otis Dudley Duncan, Beverly Duncan, Howard Schuman, 1974-05-06 How has American society changed over the last fifteen years Do we raise our children differently now than in 1953 Has women s liberation produced a shift in attitudes toward marriage or altered our idea about appropriate activities for women Have our attitudes toward race undergone a significant revision In this challenging volume three eminent sociologists examine questions like these in the light of hard data which have become available year by year over the last two decades The major purpose of the book is to demonstrate how measures of social change can be developed capitalizing on past efforts in survey research An omnibus survey carried out in 1971 was designed almost entirely as a selective repetition of questions originally asked in the 1950s It provides precise and reliable measures of change in such areas as marital and sex roles social participation child rearing religious behavior political orientations and racial attitudes Lucid and authoritative Social Change in a Metropolitan Community presents a unique body of information on changes in public opinion social norms and institutional behavior Its large number of statistical measurements are presented in an extremely accessible form almost always as simple percentage comparisons The research findings included here are unduplicated by any other study and as a source of information on current social trends they provide fascinating reading for anyone who wishes to enlarge his understanding of the temper of our times Historical Social Psychology Kenneth Gergen, Mary Gergen, 2014-01-27 The vast majority of research in social psychology focuses on momentary events an attitude is changed dissonance is reduced a cognition is primed and so on Little attention is paid to the unfolding of events over time to social life as an ongoing process in which events are related in various ways as life unfolds Originally published in 1984 Historical Social Psychology opens a space for theory and research in which temporal process is central Contributors to this broad ranging work provide a rich range of perspectives from the theoretical to the methodological from micro sequences to the life span and from contemporary history to the long dur e Together these authors set the stage for a major shift in the focus of social psychological inquiry Catalog of Copyright Entries. Samuel Long,2012-12-06 In the writing of prefaces for works of this sort most editors report being faced with similar challenges and have much in common in relating how these challenges are met They acknowledge that their paramount ob jective is to provide more than an overview of topics but rather to offer selective critical reviews that will serve to advance theory and research in the particular area reviewed The question of the appropriate audience to be addressed is usually answered by directing material to a potential audience of social scientists graduate students and occasionally ad vanced undergraduate students Editors who are confronted with the problem of structuring their material often explore various means by which their social science discipline might be subdivided then generally conclude that no particular classification strategy is superior In elabo rating on the process by which the enterprise was initiated editors typ ically resort to a panel of luminaries who provide independent support for the idea and then offer both suggestions for topics and the authors who will write them Editors usually concede that chapter topics and content do not reflect their original conception but are a compromise between their wishes and the authors expertise and capabilities Editors report that inevitable delays occur authors drop out of projects and are replaced and new topics are introduced Finally editors frequently con fess that the final product is incomplete with gaps occurring because of failed commitments by authors or because authors could not be secured to write certain chapters Housing and Planning References ,1974
