Taxation and Economic Development in Taiwan Glenn P. Jenkins, Chun-Yan Kuo, Kenan Sun, 2003 Documenting the evolution of economic development and fiscal policies in Taiwan over the last four decades this work explores the effectiveness of specific tax and trade policies The authors make a major revision to the previously accepted role played by the export processing zones and the protection of domestic producers from foreign competition The extensive use of duty exemption systems enabled the government to create competition among the exporting firms and the innovative design of economic policies and administrative systems helped the private sector generate savings expand investments and promote exports This work analyzes how unique fiscal policies and administrative practices were designed to foster the rapid growth and development of Taiwan during this period The Economic Development of Taiwan, 1980 to 1993 Michael Roemer, Ji Zhou, 1996

The Labour Market and Economic Development of Taiwan, 2007 Addresses three main issues how Taiwan's labour market worked so well prior to 1996 what factors can be attributed to the rapid deterioration of Taiwan's labour market performance since 1996 and the measures adopted by the Taiwan government in tackling the high unemployment rate This book also presents an integrated labour market model Journal of Economic Literature, 2014

Development Centre Studies Chinese Economic Performance in the Long Run, 960-2030 AD, Second Edition, Revised and Updated Maddison Angus, 2007-09-28 This book uses a comparative approach to explain why China's role in the world economy has changed so dramatically in the last thousand years This edition has been revised and updated and Chapter 4 is new It concludes that China will resume its role as the world's largest economy by 2015 Building a Modern Financial System David C. Cole, Betty F. Slade, 1996 Building A Modern Financial System provides penetrating insights into the upheavals in Indonesia and explains the kinds of policies that can lead to the development of a modern financial system in a large relatively underdeveloped country The study covers all facets of the financial system emphasising the role of the monetary authorities the transition from government dominated to a predominantly private banking system and the rapid expansion of the capital market Indonesia is a particularly interesting case because its economy and financial system was in shambles in the mid 1960s owing to political adventurism and economic mismanagement Until more recently sensible economic policies and growth promoting reforms provided a sound financial system and a balanced expansion of agriculture and industry However since the mid 1990s the stability of the Indonesian system has once again been called into question

Mobilizing for Development Kristen E. Looney, 2020-05-15 Mobilizing for Development tackles the question of how countries achieve rural development and offers a new way of thinking about East Asia's political economy that challenges the developmental state paradigm Through a comparison of Taiwan 1950s 1970s South Korea 1950s 1970s and China 1980s 2000s Kristen E Looney shows that different types of development outcomes improvements in agricultural production rural living standards and the village environment were realized to different degrees at different times and in different ways She argues that rural modernization campaigns defined as policies demanding high levels of mobilization to effect dramatic change played a central role in the region and that divergent development outcomes can be attributed to the interplay between campaigns and institutions The analysis departs from common portrayals of the developmental state as wholly technocratic and demonstrates that rural development was not just a byproduct of industrialization Looney's research is based on several years of fieldwork in Asia and makes a unique contribution by systematically comparing China's development experience with other countries Relevant to political science economic history rural sociology and Asian Studies the book enriches our understanding of state led development and agrarian change

Political Economy of Tax Reform Takatoshi Ito, Anne O. Krueger, 2007-12-01 The rapid emergence of East Asia as an important geopolitical economic entity has been one of the most visible and striking changes in the international economy in recent years With that emergence has come an increased need for understanding the problems of interdependence As a step toward meeting this need the National Bureau of Economic Research joined with the Korea Development Institute to sponsor this volume which focuses on the complexities of tax reform in a global economy Experts from Taiwan Korea the Philippines Japan and Thailand as well as the United States Canada and Israel examine the major tax programs of the 1980s and their domestic and international economic effects The analyses reveal similarities between the United States and countries in East Asia in political constraints on policy making and taken together they show how growing interdependence interacts with domestic economic and political concerns to affect issues as politically vital as tax reform Economists policymakers and members of the business community will benefit from these studies      Institutional Economics and National Competitiveness Young Back Choi, 2011-07-29 This book offers a strong contribution to the growing field of institutional economics going beyond the question of why institutions matter and examines the ways in which different types of institutions are conducive to the enhancement of competitiveness and economic development Adopting a variety of approaches ranging from New Institutional Economics Public Choice Constitutional Political Economy and Austrian Economics to more traditional economic approaches contributors examine the important issues of interest to development economics This book asks whether democracy is a pre condition for economic development what the proper role of government is in the age of globalization and whether successful government led policies were the cause of South Korea's economic development As well as these key questions the book covers the issues of whether the government should rely on the market process to encourage economic development or must they interfere and by what criteria one can judge a proposal for policies for economic prosperity The book tries to make a contribution by introducing a variety of perspective some argue in favour of industrial policies while others argue for a lesser role for the government and a greater entrepreneurial freedom Some question the wisdom of promoting democracy as a necessary condition for economic development while others argue that political liberalization is the basis of lasting competitive edge of an economy The book should be of great interest to students and researchers in need of a multi perspective collection covering several approaches to the issues of institutional economics and national competition      Africa and Asia in Comparative Economic Perspective P. Lawrence, C.

Thirtle,2001-05-14 This invaluable collection compares the relatively unsuccessful economic development of Subsaharan Africa with that of the successful Asian economies especially the Asian tigers It covers three main areas of comparison the lessons for Africa from the Asian experience secondly the comparisons of various aspects of economic development in Africa and Asia and finally convergence how far the laggard economies are catching up with or diverging away from each other
