Training the Teacher Martin Grove Brumbaugh,Antoinette Abernethy Lamoreaux,Marion Lawrance,A. F. Schaufli,2021-04-25 In Training the Teacher the anthology offers a profound exploration of educational philosophies and instructional methodologies that underscore the timeless pursuit of effective teaching The collection comprehensively engages with pedagogical strategies that bridge the past and present tracing the evolution of educational practices across various contexts Through a rich tapestry of essays and treatises it highlights significant instructional models presenting them as both historical artifacts and living paradigms This compilation brings forth a diverse range of styles from contemplative essays to didactic narratives each piece contributing uniquely to the articulation of a collective vision for education The esteemed contributors Martin Grove Brumbaugh Antoinette Abernethy Lamoreaux Marion Lawrance and A F Schaufli come together against a backdrop of a rapidly transforming educational landscape Each author brings a distinctive perspective shaped by their respective historical and cultural milieus yet finds common ground in their commitment to refining the craft of teaching Engaging with the broader movements in educational reform including progressive education and other paradigm shifting ideologies the anthology captures the dynamism of pedagogical discourse Their combined efforts present a multifaceted examination of the teacher's role as an architect of learning environments For the discerning reader or educator Training the Teacher provides a rare confluence of ideas spanning disciplines and eras within the singular volume This collection is not merely a repository of historical educational thought but a catalyst for contemporary discourse It invites educators scholars and those interested in pedagogy to immerse themselves in its varied perspectives offering insights that resonate with both the seasoned practitioner and the curious learner The anthology stands as a testimonial to the enduring quest for excellence in education merging historical insights with modern educational challenges The Gregg Writer ,1912 Teaching on a Tightrope Jack Zevin,2010-10-16 Teaching on a Tightrope offers those seeking to play the teacher's role a way of thinking about the major components of teaching These components or dimensions are described in terms of pairings that interact and overlap with each other e.g teaching as art and science content and process theory and practice cognition and emotion Each pairing is focused on the overall relationship and communication between actor actress the teacher and audience the students Throughout the book a rationale is proposed that a truly great teacher must learn how to balance the many components of teaching to fit both subject and audience Success depends upon the knowledge skill and performance of the one playing teacher in reaching those in the student roles Practice must be informed by theory content by process cognition by emotion no single factor can stand by itself but must link to others By expanding your understanding of a teacher s many roles you can experiment with a wide variety of instructional methods to motivate and sustain student learning Reliance on one technique lecturing or group work from this point of view does not guarantee success in creating interested learners Much more is need to achieve a joining of ideas techniques subject and atmosphere above all attention to audience needs and interests anxieties and problems Communication the heart of teaching should be thought of as at least a two way or better yet a multi path interchange of ideas and emotions As teachers grow in experience and skill they draw upon many sources for inspiration and satisfaction They slowly integrate facts ideas concepts and feelings into an overall philosophy that guides their choices of effective methods and materials in promoting learning A balance emerges from competing factors and audience adaptations or doesn t leading to a sense of euphoria and success or a feeling of depression and failure Teaching is portrayed as difficult and rewarding yet often disappointing as well

Black Teachers of English(es) in Japan Gregory Paul

Glasgow,2024-12-10 This book examines the pedagogical and professional experiences of a transnational group of teachers from the African continent and diaspora who made the decision to live and teach English in Japan Through a layered analytical framework it explores how these teachers struggle to negotiate their raciolinguistic identities in contexts that may prove to be professionally supportive in some cases but marginalizing in others The author contends that although multiculturalism and diversity within ELT in Japan may currently seem to be more prevalent the agency that Black teachers exercise in promoting their own cultures and language varieties may be constrained depending on the characteristics of the institutions in which they teach The issues raised in this volume will be relevant to educators administrators curriculum and materials developers and researchers committed to promoting equity racial harmony and intercultural understanding in language education
