French Film in Britain Lucy Mazdon, Catherine Wheatley, 2013-03-01 In a market long dominated by Hollywood French films are consistently the most widely distributed non English language works French cinema however appears to undergo a transformation as it reaches Britain becoming something quite different to that experienced by audiences at home Drawing on extensive archival research the authors examine in detail the discourses debates and decisions which have determined the place accorded to French cinema in British film culture In so doing they provide a fascinating account of this particular instance of transnational cinematic traffic while simultaneously shedding new light on British film history From the early days of the Film Society via the advent of the X certificate to the new possibilities of video and DVD this book reveals the complex and detailed history of the distribution exhibition marketing and reception of French cinema in Britain How Stage Playwrights Saved the British Cinema, 1930-1956 David Cottis, 2024-12-26 Examines the film careers and work of British playwrights who worked as screenwriters between 1930 1956 During the period between the 1927 Cinematograph Films Act and the new drama of the 1950s many British writers associated with the stage also wrote for films bringing the techniques of the well made play with them Some like Bernard Shaw Noel Coward and Terence Rattigan were screenwriter stars part of the publicity of the films they worked on Pygmalion Brief Encounter The Way to the Stars Others were less celebrated but had long successful screen careers such as R C Sherriff author of Journey's End who worked on films as different as The Invisible Man The Four Feathers and The Dam Busters Using the authors original archives this book follows the way in which these writers adapted their stage skills for the screen contributing to the post war Golden Age of the British cinema and creating the classic form of screenplay that continues today Shakespeare on Silent Film Robert Hamilton Ball, 2013-07-18 In 1899 when film projection was barely three years old Herbert Beerbohm Tree was filmed as King John In his highly entertaining history Robert Hamilton Ball traces in detail the fate of Shakespeare on silent films from Tree's first effort until the establishment of sound in 1929 The silent films brought Shakespeare to a wide public who had never had the chance to see his plays in the theatre And Shakespeare gave the film makers an air of respectability that was badly needed by a medium with a reputation for frivolity This work first published in 1968 brings history to life with excerpts from scenarios from reviews and from contemporary film journals and with reproduction of stills and frames from the films themselves including unusual shots of leading screen actors This is a valuable source book for film experts enhanced by full notes bibliography and indexes a fresh approach for Shakespeareans and a vivid sketch of a world that has passed for all

Distribution Evolution Elliott W. Nikdel, 2025-09-18 Distribution Evolution On Demand and the Relocation of Specialized Film looks beyond the rhetoric and beneath the gleaming surfaces of on demand to reveal a more complex picture than the narrative of disruption Welcome to the age of on demand This is a world replete with choice a world where consumers dictate the terms of their viewing experience choosing what to watch when and how a world devoid of monopoly where the niche and undiscovered stand shoulder to shoulder with the rich and the powerful These stories of disruption have come to shape the popular perception of on demand but does this vision paint an accurate portrait of today's streaming landscape Distribution Evolution assesses whether digital distribution is the democratising force we were promised Does on demand disrupt and displace the monopolistic practices and patterns that have long curtailed the wider reach of specialised film Or does this vision of disruption resemble little more than a fantasy crafted by gifted storytellers and cunning marketeers To answer these questions Distribution Evolution looks to the past to form a picture of the present Whether it be the emergence of new practices or the persistence of old ones the book reveals how a complex interplay between past and present is shaping the digital future The resulting work provides a new framework through which to understand the on demand era as a process of relocation not transformation evolution not revolution Cinema and the City Mark Shiel, Tony Fitzmaurice, 2011-07-15 This book brings together the literature of urban sociology and film studies to explore new analytical and theoretical approaches to the relationship between cinema and the city and to show how these impact on the realities of life in urban societies The Film Business Ernest Betts, 2023-10-13 First published in 1973 The Film Business makes a factual survey of British films from their beginnings in 1896 to 1972 Ernest Betts offers character studies of men who have built the film industry and made it what it is He examines the financial and political background and shows how while intending to encourage film production it has often had exactly the opposite effect and inhibited its free development Betts also attacks the manner in which the American film industry has taken over the British film industry and points to the failure of successive governments to save it from repeated crises and losses Through these fluctuations the author keeps a firm eye on the film itself and brings the judgement of film critics past and present to bear on British cinema as it moves uncertainly and not without its triumphs into the 1970s This is an interesting read for students and scholars of film studies British film history and British cinema Film Societies in Germany and Austria 1910-1933 Michael Cowan, 2025-10-01 This study traces the evolution of early film societies in Germany and Austria from the emergence of mass movie theaters in the 1910s to the turbulent years of the late Weimar Republic Examining a diverse array of groups it approaches film societies as formations designed to assimilate and influence a new medium a project emerging from the world of amateur science before taking new directions into industry art and politics Through an interdisciplinary approach in dialogue with social history print history and media archaeology it also transforms our theoretical understanding of what a film society was and how it operated Far from representing a mere collection of pre formed cinephiles film societies were according to the book's central argument productive social formations which taught people how to nurture their passion for the movies how to engage with cinema and how to interact with each other Ultimately the study argues that examining film societies can help to reveal the diffuse agency by which generative ideas of cinema take shape
