Though comparatively short it is no once over lightly chronicle full of insignificant names and dates It brilliantly achieves its principal aim to provide readers with a compact but broad and well rounded conception of the progress of the fine arts in America from ca 1670 to the present day It is a fascinating book full of new vistas it has all the earmarks of an instant classic American Artist Taylor describes changing definitions of art as much as he describes art itself and he shows how the shifting forms of patronage affected the forms of art He analyzes artists associations and he shows how museums and schools have expanded the audience for art In short he places artists and their work in cultural context This treatment of the social history of art is the most original and intriguing aspect of Taylor s sketch Journal of American History This is a brilliantly subtle book It builds with one insight after another and suddenly the reader finds that a whole new way of looking at American art is being proposed After decades of thinking and looking and teaching Dr Taylor has written it all down This work will become a classic interpretation almost overnight Peter Marzio director Corcoran Gallery of Art Interest in American art is unlikely to abate Mr Taylor s short book is an invaluable guide through this activity and to its traditions Neil Harris Wall Street Journal

Constructing a Sociology of the Arts Vera L.

Zolberg,1990-02-23 At a time when a pile of bricks is displayed in a museum when music is composed for performance underwater and the boundaries between popular and fine art are fluid conventional understandings of art are strained in describing what art is what it includes or excludes whether and how it should be evaluated and what importance should be assigned the arts in society In this book Vera Zolberg examines diverse theoretical approaches to the study of the arts Ranging over humanistic and social scientific views representing a variety of scholarly traditions American and European she then develops a sociological approach that evaluates the institutional economic and political influences on the creation of art while also affirming the importance of the question of artistic quality The author examines the arts in the social contexts in which they are created and appreciated focusing on the ways in which people become artists the institutions in which their careers develop the supports and pressures they face the publics they need to please and the political forces with which they must contend Particular subjects covered include the process by which works are created and re created at different times with changed meanings and for new social uses the role of the audience in the realization of artistic experiences the social consequences of taste preferences the reasons for change in artistic styles and for the coexistence of many art forms and styles

Stories of Nation Christopher Hebert,Martin Griffin,2024-01-12

Throughout American history there has been an oddly close relationship between the seductive appeals of narrative fiction and those of political rhetoric and advocacy. The aim of Stories of Nation Fictions Politics and the American Experience is to explore what political narratives and the cultural poetics behind them reveal about the way our personal and intimate lives are deeply connected with the public arena and the political process. The first section of the book, The Politics of Fictions, contains essays focused on works of fiction consciously dramatizing the political realm. The second group of contributions, The Fictions of Politics, explores structures and motifs from the narrative arts in discourses of American political life and the interactions of public institutions and policy with forms of fictional representation from novels to popular music and TV drama. The essays presented here broaden the conversation in American literary studies about what constitutes the political in literature and culture by reintroducing the dimension of institutional or representative politics. Likewise, Stories of Nation aims to repair the lines of communication between the idea that all fiction is political and the view that political speech is a subgenre of literature, all the more in need of examination in a highly polarized society. The range of perspectives in Stories of Nation will engage students of literature, popular culture, and politics alike.

MARTIN GRIFFIN is an associate professor in the Department of English at the University of Tennessee. He is the author of Ashes of the Mind: War and Memory in Northern Literature, 1865-1900 (2009) and co-author with Constance DeVereaux of Narrative Identity and the Map of Cultural Policy: Once Upon a Time in a Globalized World (2013).

CHRISTOPHER HEBERT is an assistant professor in the Department of English at the University of Tennessee and is former senior acquisitions editor at the University of Michigan Press. He is the author of the novels Angels of Detroit (2016) and The Boiling Season (2012).
