The First World The Third World:

Property for People, Not for Profit Ulrich Duchrow, Franz J. Hinkelammert, 2008-02-29 The issue of private property and the rights it confers remain almost undiscussed in critiques of globalization and free market economics Yet property lies at the heart of an economic system geared to profit maximization The authors describe the historically specific and self consciously explicit manner in which it emerged They trace this history from earliest historical times and show how in the hands of Thomas Hobbes and John Locke in particular the notion of private property took on its absolutist nature and most extreme form a form which neoliberal economics is now imposing on humanity worldwide through the pressures of globalization They argue that avoiding the destruction of people s ways of living and of Nature requires reshaping our notions of private property They look at practical ways for social and ecumenical movements to press for alternatives

Liberal Bourgeois Protestantism Paul Mocombe, 2012-06-07 This work analyzes the Protestant metaphysical origins and basis underlying the sociological process of globalization Specifically it outlines the different conceptions of globalization in the sociological literature and then examines the nature of identity and identity politics in the age of globalization The work concludes by drawing a connection between the nature of identity politics and the globalizing process Encyclopedia of Family Matters Marisel C. Moreno, 2012 Adopting a comparative and multidisciplinary approach to Puerto Rican literature Marisel Moreno juxtaposes narratives by insular and U S Puerto Rican women authors in order to examine their convergences and divergences By showing how these writers use the trope of family to question the tenets of racial and social harmony an idealized past and patriarchal authority that sustain the foundational myth of la gran familia she argues that this metaphor constitutes an overlooked literary contact zone between narratives from both sides Moreno proposes the recognition of a transinsular corpus to reflect the increasingly transnational character of the Puerto Rican population and addresses the need to broaden the literary canon in order to include the diaspora Drawing on the fields of historiography cultural studies and gender studies the author defies the tendency to examine these literary bodies independently of one another and therefore aims to present a more nuanced and holistic vision of this literature

The Pre-occupation of Postcolonial Studies Fawzia Afzal-Khan, Kalpana Seshadri-Crooks, 2000

The Pre Occupation of Postcolonial Studies contains essays by both leading figures and younger scholars engaged in the field of postcolonial studies In this state of the field reader editors Fawzia Afzal Khan and Kalpana Seshadri Crooks have created a dynamic forum for contributors from a variety of theoretical and disciplinary vantage points to question both the limits and the limitations of postcolonial thought Since it burst on the academic scene as the hot new disciplinary field during the final decade of the twentieth century postcolonial studies has faced criticism from those who question its troubling trajectories its sometimes suspect epistemological and pedagogical methods and its relatively narrow focus With diverse essays that emerge from such disciplines as South Asian Latin American Arab and Jewish studies this volume responds to skeptics and adherers alike addressing not only the broad theoretical issues at stake within the field but also the position of the field itself within the academy as well as its relationship to modern postmodern and Marxist discourses Contributors offer critiques on ahistorical and universalizing tendencies in postcolonial work and confront the need for scholars to attend to issues of class ideology and the effects of neocolonial practices Seeking to broaden the field's traditionally literary spectrum of methodologies these essayists take up large thematic issues to examine specific sites of colonial activities with all of their historical political and cultural significance Closing the volume is an insightful interview with Homi Bhabha in which he discusses postcolonial studies in the context of contemporary cultural politics and theory The Pre Occupation of Postcolonial Studies not only offers an overview of the discipline but also pushes and pulls at the edges of postcolonial studies offering a comprehensive view of the field's diversity of thought and envisioning clear pathways for its future Contributors Fawzia Afzal Khan Ali Behdad Homi Bhabha Daniel Boyarin Neil Larsen Saree Makdisi Joseph Massad Walter Mignolo Hamid Naficy Ngugi Wa Thingo Timothy B Powell R Radhakrishnan Bruce Robbins Kalpana Seshadri Crooks Ella Shohat Rajeswari Sunder Rajan

The Quality of Society, Volume II Adolfo Figueroa, 2021-09-16 This book articulates a unified theory of capitalism as an attempt to provide a comprehensive scientific theory of this social system A unified theory of capitalism is not the combination of the predominant economic theories neoclassical classical and Keynesian so as to make them compatible It is not a composite economic theory It is a new economic theory Predictions of the theory's models were consistent with eight basic empirical regularities of capitalism dealing with economic growth income inequality employment level and environment degradation Therefore the unified theory can be accepted as a good approximation of the real capitalist world But the models were constructed at a high level of abstraction Also problematic was the need to work out more fully the public policy implications of the theory It is therefore no wonder that essays on the unified theory to answer these questions are a natural outcome of a new scientific endeavor attempting to reach a unity of knowledge in economics

The Politics of Transnational Television Austin Ogunsuyi, 2004-05-29 The central focus of this study is to provide an improved basis for articulating the politics of transnational television and its potentials for improving relations among nations In this context the politics of transnational television means the decision making process that determines the degree of freedom of the press tolerated by individual governments and how that could affect broadcasting mode and attitudes toward other nations The motivation for this research stems from a conviction that the cultural imperialism perspective on the nature and modes of transnational television are erroneous and therefore susceptible to a wide and often misleading theoretical assumption with wide ranged implications In reevaluating the concept of cultural imperialism some fundamental questions are raised to determine to what extent its arguments are true Using the elite theory of power in various societies aided by Johan Galtung s model of a global communication in four worlds we see a pattern of global television that suggests a similar motivation underlying media ownership in all societies We acknowledge with the support of a literature review and other data sources the existence of a global systemic order where technology rich nations dominate technology over poor nations But there is also substantial evidence to prove some of the poorer nations exercise some degree of autonomy This makes it more difficult to explain cultural imperialism simply as a relationship where developed and developing nations are arranged in dominant subordinate or top down order Through a strategy of original intent we are able to show the elite in various societies acquire television mainly to satisfy their political economic or social interest Media attitudes therefore are largely the ideological expression of local elite who determines foreign policy

Writing Cyprus Bahriye Kemal,2019-10-28 Bahriye Kemal s ground breaking new work serves as the first study of the literatures of Cyprus from a postcolonial and partition perspective Her book explores Anglophone Hellenophone and Turkophone writings from the 1920s to the present Drawing on Yi Fu Tuan s humanistic geography and Henri Lefebvre s Marxist philosophy Kemal proposes a new interdisciplinary spatial model at once theoretical and empirical that demonstrates the power of space and place in postcolonial partition cases The book shows the ways that place and space determine identity so as to create identifications together these places spaces and identifications are always in production In analysing practices of writing inventing experiencing reading and construction the book offers a distinct solidarity that captures the truth of space and place for the production of multiple mutable Cypruses shaped by and for multiple mutable selves ending in a differential Cyprus Mediterranean and world Writing Cyprus offers not only a nuanced understanding of the actual and active production of colonialism postcolonialism and partition that dismantles the dominant binary legacy of historical political deadlock discourse but a fruitful model for understanding other sites of conflict and division Women's Human Rights Susan Deller Ross,2013-10-09 According to Susan Deller Ross many human rights advocates still do not see women s rights as human rights Yet women in many countries suffer from laws practices customs and cultural and religious norms that consign them to a deeply inferior status Advocates might conceive of human rights as involving torture extrajudicial killings or cruel and degrading treatment all clearly in violation of international human rights and think those issues irrelevant to women Yet is female genital mutilation practiced on millions of young girls and even infants not a gross violation of human rights When a family decides to murder a daughter in the name of honor is that not an extrajudicial killing When a husband rapes or savagely beats his wife knowing the legal authorities will take no action on her behalf is that not cruel and degrading treatment Women s Human Rights is the first human rights casebook to focus specifically on women s human rights Rich with interdisciplinary material the book advances the study of the deprivation and violence women suffer due to discriminatory laws religions and customs that deny them their most fundamental freedoms It also provides present and future lawyers the legal tools for change demonstrating how human rights treaties can be used to obtain new laws and court decisions that protect women against discrimination with respect to employment land ownership inheritance subordination in marriage domestic violence female genital mutilation polygamy child marriage and the denial of reproductive rights Ross examines international and regional human rights treaties in depth including treaty language and the jurisprudence and general interpretive guidelines developed by human rights bodies By studying how international human rights law has been and can be implemented at the domestic level through local courts and legislatures readers will understand how to call upon these newly articulated human rights to help bring about legislation court decisions and executive action that protect women from human rights violations Technology Transfer in Fibres, Textiles and Apparel Gerard Karel Boon,1979-02-28
