The First World War In Irish Poetry:

The First World War in Irish Poetry Jim Haughey, 2002 Revising his 1996 doctoral dissertation for the University of South Carolina Haughey seeks out the response of Irish poets to the Great War which he finds to have been cast into deep critical shadow by the dazzle of English poetry about that war and the glare of poetry on the contemporary Irish independence movement Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Poetry of the First World War Tim Kendall, 2013-10-10 The First World War produced an extraordinary flowering of poetic talent poets whose words commemorate the conflict more personally and as enduringly as monuments in stone Lines such as What passing bells for these who die as cattle and They shall not grow old as they that are left grow old have come to express the feelings of a nation about the horrors and aftermath of war This new anthology provides a definitive record of the achievements of the Great War poets As well as offering generous selections from the celebrated soldier poets including Wilfred Owen Siegfried Sassoon Rupert Brooke and Ivor Gurney it also incorporates less well known writing by civilian and women poets Music hall and trench songs provide a further lyrical perspective on the War A general introduction charts the history of the war poets reception and challenges prevailing myths about the war poets progress from idealism to bitterness The work of each poet is prefaced with a biographical account that sets the poems in their historical context Although the War has now passed out of living memory its haunting of our language and culture has not been exorcised Its poetry survives because it continues to speak to and about us The Great War in Irish Poetry Fran Brearton, 2003 The Great War in Irish Poetry explores the impact of the First World War on the work of W B Yeats Robert Graves and Louis MacNeice in the period 1914 45 and on three contemporary Northern Irish poets Derek Mahon Seamus Heaney and Michael Longley Its concern is to place their work and memory of the Great War in the context of Irish politics and culture in the twentieth century The historical background to Irish involvement in the Great War is explained as are the ways in which issues raised in 1912 20 still reverberate in the politics of remembrance in Northern Ireland particularly through such events as the Home Rule cause the loss of the Titanic the Battle of the Somme the Easter Rising While the Great War is perceived as central to English culture and its literature holds a privileged position in the English literary canon the centrality of the Great War to Irish writing has seldom been recognised This book shows first that despite complications in Irish domestic politics which led to the repression of memory of the Great War Irish poets have been drawn throughout the century to the events and images of 1914 18 This engagement is particularly true of those writing in the troubled Northern Ireland of the last thirty years The second main concern is the extent to which recognition of the importance of the Great War in Irish writing has itself become a casualty of competing versions of the literary canon Fields of Agony: British Poetry of the First World War Stuart Sillars, 2007-01-01 A study of poetry written by men and women in all parts of the British Isles during the First World War 1914 18 The book discusses significant individual poems by the writers named exploring them within their social political and

The endangered or dangerous body lies at the centre of the clash between victim and persecutor and has generated tales of terror and narratives of horror which function to either salve purge or dangerously perpetuate such oppositions This ground breaking book will be of interest to academics and students of Gothic studies gender and film studies and especially to readers interested in the relationship between history and literature Women's Poetry of the First World War Nosheen Khan,1988-01-01 Poetry by Women in Ireland Lucy Collins,2012-01-01 Uncovering the hidden history of poetry written by women in Ireland from 1870 to 1970 this anthology includes more than 180 poems by fifteen women with diverse backgrounds experiences and creative aims Challenging the assumption that women wrote little poetry of note during this period this rich and original collection reveals the range of their achievement and the lasting value of their work Presented alongside biographical sketches of their authors the poems span the political and the personal From nationalist ballads to modernist lyrics this book is an essential resource for students and scholars of Irish literature Genesis of the Rising, 1912-1916 Christopher M. Kennedy (Ph. D.),2010 The Easter Rising of 1916 had a lasting effect upon Ireland with many viewing it as a watershed in the history of modern Ireland and concurring with Yeats that a terrible beauty was born Seeking to clarify the state of nationalist opinion in the period before the Rising Genesis of the Rising is as much an undertaking in social psychology as it is a social and political history It strives to debunk many longstanding theories most significantly the turning of the tide thesis which asserts that British blunders in the wake of the failed Rising turned the tide in public opinion toward the course envisioned by the Rebels Genesis of the Rising contends that as early as 1912 with the introduction of the Third Home Rule Bill through the start of the Great War and right up to Easter 1916 the tide in nationalist opinion had been turning albeit silently and that the Rising was a catalytic force that accelerated an already ongoing process It reveals a dichotomy in nationalist opinion between covert views and misleading overt opinion when it suggests that it was the Rising and the executions that subsequently forced nationalist opinion to show its true colors In effect the tide had begun to turn long before Easter 1916 and constitutional nationalism as represented by the Third Home Rule Bill and the Irish Parliamentary Party was giving way to some aspect of physical force nationalism
