Thomas D. Hall, James V. Fenelon, 2015-12-03 The issues native peoples face intensify with globalization Through case studies from around the world Hall and Fenelon demonstrate how indigenous peoples movements can only be understood by linking highly localized processes with larger global and historical forces The authors show that indigenous peoples have been resisting and adapting to encounters with states for millennia Unlike other antiglobalization activists indigenous peoples primarily seek autonomy and the right to determine their own processes of adaptation and change especially in relationship to their origin lands and community The authors link their analyses to current understandings of the evolution of globalization The Naqab Bedouin and Colonialism Mansour Nasasra, Sophie Richter-Devroe, Sarab

Abu-Rabia-Queder, Richard Ratcliffe, 2014-08-13 The Naqab Bedouin and Colonialism brings together new scholarship to challenge perceived paradigms often dominated by orientalist modernist or developmentalist assumptions on the Naqab Bedouin The past decade has witnessed a change in both the wider knowledge production on and political profile of the Naqab Bedouin This book addresses this change by firstly endeavouring to overcome the historic isolation of Naqab Bedouin studies from the rest of Palestine studies by situating studying and analyzing their predicaments firmly within the contemporary context of Israeli settler colonial policies Secondly it strives to de colonise research and advocacy on the Naqab Bedouin by for example reclaiming indigenous knowledge and terminology Offering not only a nuanced description and analysis of Naqab Bedouin agency and activism but also trying to draw broader conclusion as to the functioning of settler colonial power structures as well as to the politics of research in such a context this book is essential reading for students and researchers with an interest in Postcolonial Studies Development Studies Israel Palestine Studies and the contemporary Middle East more broadly
